Chief Justice For 15 Years

Warren Reported Leaving Post On Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren is leaving the Supreme Court which he has headed during 15 years of controversy over the court's liberal decisions such as those on race discrimination and police powers, authoritative sources reported today.

White House officials declined to comment on today's report however, and all efforts to reach Warren were unsuccessful.

Compulsory Retirement

Warren said on his 75th birthday two years ago he thought there should be compulsory retirement for all public officials but did not specify at what age.

"I believe that the strength of our system in this country depends on the infusion of new blood into all our institutions," he explained then.

There is now no compulsory retirement for federal judges although they may step down at 70 after 10 years on the bench and receive a lifetime pension equal to their full salary. Warren's salary is $40,000 a year.

EARL WARREN
Quitting High Court.

Named By Ike In '53

The big Californian was named to the top post on the Supreme Court in 1953 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. At 77, he is known to have long felt it was time to step aside.

President Johnson, who expects to leave office himself when his term ends in January, will be able to name Warren's successor before he leaves. The appointment is of critical significance on a court where appointees commonly serve for decades and the relative strength of the liberal and conservative factions can be reversed by the departure of a single justice—depending on the politics of the president who

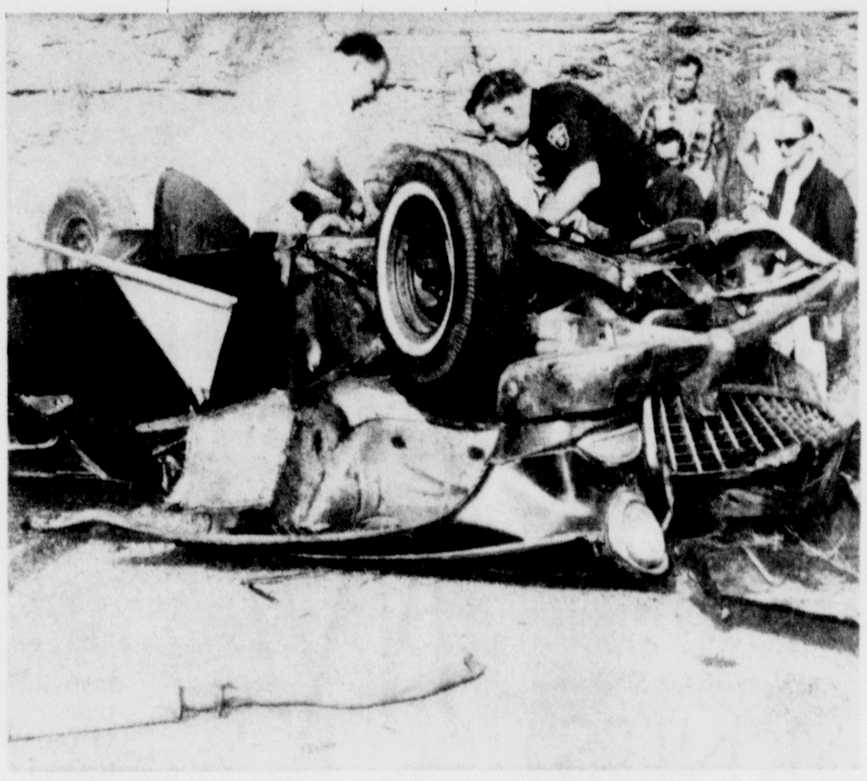
Two Termed 'Serious'

Three Youths Injured In Crash On Freeway



CITY FIREMEN James Walker, left, and Frank Shone labor at attempting to free injured Robert Means of the Y. & O. Rd. from a wrecked auto in which he was trapped for 30 minutes along the Freeway this morning. Means was in "serious" condition today at City Hospital.

Two Pinned In Wrecked '55 Hardtop

Third Boy Hurled Out Of Car Which Lands On Its Top

Three teen-age boys were injured today, two critically, when their 13-year-old car veered off the California Hollow Freeway just inside the city limits, traveled along the berm for nearly a half-mile and came to a halt on its top, smashed into twisted junk that trapped two of the victims.

Police, still investigating the spectacular crash, identified the injured as:

Robert Means, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd., owner of the 1955 model two-door hardtop. He is in "guarded" condition. The full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Jerry Lyle, 16, of 728 Oak St., in "poor" condition with compound fractures of the legs.

Ricky W. Jolly, 16, also of the Y. & O. Rd. He also is in "guarded" condition, but there was no definite report on his injuries.

—:—

ONE OF the boys was hurled clear and onto the highway and the other two were trapped in the auto. Means was pinned in the hulk for nearly a half-hour with a metal rod penetrating one leg. Officers said it appeared the gear shift lever had impaled him.

Firemen were summoned to the scene and used heavy bolt cutters to help remove Means from the wreckage.

Officers said shortly before noon they still had not determined who was driving the auto. However, it was registered in Means' name with a 10-day tag that was issued yesterday. He was carrying registration papers which showed he bought the car yesterday.

Police said the crash occurred two-tenths of a mile inside the corporate line. The inbound car, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, went off the highway and then veered between the guardrail and the nearby hillside without striking the fence.

Police received the report of the crash shortly after 8 a. m. Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Det. Capt. Kenneth Mooney, Det. William A. Devon and Patrolman K. J. Montgomery hurried to the scene.

Firemen were summoned to the scene to help free the injured, including Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet, Fireman Frank Shone, and Fireman

Senate Eyes Tough Gun Control Bill

House Vote Slated Next Week On Mail Rifles, Shotguns

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to put more muscle in a bill banning mail order sales of rifles and shotguns is under way in the Senate while in the House the same measure is headed for a possible midweek vote.

"Anything short of registration and licensing will not be effective," said Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., after the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday, put off action on President Johnson's new bill for one week.

Not Strong Measure

"Not a strong gun control measure," was the way Tydings described the bill which at the same time was being approved in the House Judiciary Committee.

Joining Tydings in the move for stricter action was Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., longtime foe of sterner weapons control. Both serve on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"A tremendous gap" in the bill, said Hruska, is its failure to restrict mail order sales within a state and not just across its borders.

He told a reporter he is consulting with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chief Senate sponsor of the bill, about inserting an amendment to require buyers to file affidavits of eligibility.

Two Are Held After Chester Robbery Bid

A Chester area man was hospitalized and a Huntington, W. Va., resident jailed as the result of an attempted robbery Thursday afternoon at a Chester art pottery.

Maynard Baker of Chester RD 1 is in "satisfactory" condition at City Hospital with a laceration of the scalp suffered when he was struck over the head with a piece of pottery wielded by James Drumheller.

Baker and Columbus Ramey, 50, of 523 7th St., Huntington, were staging the attempted robbery at the time at the Barnhart Art Pottery on 1st St. and Carolina Ave. about 3:45 p.m.

Drumheller was repairing his auto at a garage owned by James Glover Jr. of Chester in an alley behind the store. The two were informed of the attempted robbery by the daughter of Mrs. Ilene Barnhart of Laurel Heights, a sales woman, who was treatened with a knife by the would be robbers.

Mrs. Barnhart told Chester police the men threatened her, demanding cash. She is a daughter-in-law of the store owner, Clyde Barnhart.

Chester police made the arrests.

Baker was charged with attemped armed robbery. Ramey is being held in Chester jail on a charge of being an accessory.

They will appear before Mayor Burton Ward, with the hearing date to be set upon Baker's release from the hospital, police said.

House Passes Measure, 268-150

Senate's Swift Approval Expected On 10% Surtax

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to President Johnson today the long-debated bill adding a 10 per cent surcharge to individual and corporation income taxes and ordering a $6 billion federal spending cut.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to swiftly approve a House-passed bill, giving President Johnson his long-sought 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Johnson has said he will sign the bill, which was in the Senate for action today, although he opposes its provision for a mandatory $6 billion cut in federal spending.

The House passed the measure Thursday night 268-150.

Its key provisions originally were adopted in the Senate 53-35 April 2 as an amendment to a House bill.

May Force Cutbacks

Johnson has said spending restrictions may force cutbacks in federal programs he considers already at rock-bottom levels.

The surcharge is retroactive for individuals to April 1 and for corporations to Jan. 1. It is scheduled to expire June 30 next year unless the new administration and Congress decide to extend it.

The increase, to go into effect 15 days after presidential approval, will apply to all individuals except those at the bottom of the scale—single persons with $1,000 or less of taxable income and couples with $2,000 or less.

The surcharge, along with other tax provisions in the bill, will bring in an estimated $15.5 billion in extra revenue to help improve the government's dismal fiscal picture in the next year.

Includes Other Provisions

The measure also includes a variety of other provisions retained by Senate-House conferees out of a wide-ranging series of riders tacked onto the legislation in the Senate.

One of the most important of these will put off for a year, to July 1, 1969, the freeze provision on federal matching for aid to families with dependent children included in the 1967 Social Security Act.

Under this provision, the federal government would have limited its aid to the same proportion of a state's children which that state had on the welfare rolls in the first three months of 1968.

Repeal Objective Of Poor

Its repeal has been an objective of the Poor People's Campaign. Leaders of the campaign have objected even more strenuously to a compulsory work provision for mothers in the 1967 law; that is not changed in the tax bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee told the House Thursday passage of the bill was essential to meet the gravest fiscal situation the United States has faced since World War II.

Mills also told some Democrats concerned about possible cuts in administration programs

Police Wield Clubs, Fire Tear Gas

77 Held In Capital Riot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaign leaders, pleading for nonviolence, managed early this morning to cool off demonstrators angered by the campaign's first serious clashes with police.

Wielding clubs and firing tear gas, police Thursday night arrested 77 demonstrators during tense and angry confrontations.

Several top South Christian Leadership Conference officials, including its president, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, pleaded at a Resurrection City rally that lasted past midnight for adherence to their nonviolent philosophy.

Shouting, Shoving Contest

But none had been on hand during the two most serious incidents, a shouting, shoving contest between police and demonstrators near the Department of Agriculture, and the tear gassing of a crowd after some youngsters threw bottles and sticks at police.

"I am pleading with you to say violence is not the way," Abernathy, president of SCLC, told an after-midnight mass meeting in a Resurrection City almost under siege by helmeted, rifle-carrying police.

"This is exactly what they want, they're trying to get us out of here," said the Rev. Andrew Young, SCLC executive vice president. "All they need is a little incident like this to get a court order and slap us with a $50,000 or $100,000 fine."

After Abernathy Promise

The violence came just 24 hours after a 50,000-person Solidarity Day crowd prompted Abernathy to promise that civil disobedience would begin in earnest later this week.

The first hints of trouble came when some of an estimated 50 demonstrators at the often-attacked Department of Agriculture blocked main doorways in midafternoon.

Warned by police that such interference was against the law, they refused to budge and went limp to be hauled away by police.

Then, about 100 demonstrators started to march around the block-long building and got into a shouting shoving match with police, some of whom used their night sticks freely.

Blocked from surging into the street at the busy intersection of 14th St. and Independence Ave., they began a series of hit-and-run harrassment tactics that kept police hopping and commuters frightened.

Snarled Traffic

Moving rapidly down 14th street in a line that swelled by the minute, they would rush into the six-lane thoroughfare and sit down, thoroughly snarling traffic.

Then, as police bore down on them with nightsticks held at the ready, they would rise at a signal, rush back to the sidewalk, and repeat the maneuver at another intersection.

For almost half an hour the line of demonstrators zig-zagged rapidly back and forth, until suddenly someone did not move quickly enough to avoid slam-

Police Seek Identity Of River Victim

BULLETIN

Midland and Industry police were seeking the identification of a man, believed in his 50's or 60's, who drowned shortly before noon today after falling or jumping from the Shippingport Bridge.

Two men on a dredge boat off Phillis Island recovered the body of the man after one of them saw him enter the waters of the Ohio River.

Wilbur Joy of Nevada St., Wellsville, at work on Dredge No. 9, said he looked up to see the man "coming down" into the water.

He and Arthur Mott of New Manchester, another boat employe, took a rowboat to the site and recovered the body of the partially bald grey - haired man, who was described as thin.

Sen. Hatfield Latest Recruit

Vice President Hopefuls Moving Into Nixon Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican vice presidential hopefuls are moving into the camp of front-running GOP presidential contender Richard M. Nixon with antiwar Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon the latest recruit.

Earlier fellow freshman Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee had abandoned his "favorite son" status and lined up his state's 28-vote delegation behind Nixon.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, while not supporting Nixon directly, recently dropped his Illinois favorite son status opening the way for much of the state's big 58-vote delegation to back the former vice president.

Hatfield, Baker and Percy are all considered possible running mates if Nixon holds his present lead over New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and captures the GOP nomination at Miami Beach in August.

Similarly, Govs. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland and John A. Volpe of Massachusetts have received indications from the Nixon forces they are prime vice presidential material and are leaning more and more toward Nixon.

And Texas Sen. John G. Tower, also considered in the running, has been praising Nixon's stand on various issues while keeping neutral as the favorite son head of his state's delegation.

Although Hatfield delivered the nominating speech for Nixon in 1960, some reporters at his news conference Thursday indicated surprise at his endorsement of the former vice president, a firm defender of the U.S. stand in Vietnam.

But the Oregon Republican said that, while he does not consider Nixon a dove, "I believe he is the man who can lead us out of Vietnam."

Keep Paris Talks Open And Moving

The so-called peace talks in Paris are causing more irritation among the American citizenry as each day drags on without noticeable accomplishment.

Apparently realizing their impotence when it comes to getting their job done, the opposing sides have agreed to hold their regular meetings only once a week. Special sessions can be called if there seems to be cause.

Once-a-week meetings while the war goes on and guilds up 24 hours a day.

In these United States, labor-management talks often go on into the small hours of the night as negotiators try to hammer out accords. But in these cases there is a desire on the part of both sides to reach a settlement.

The off-and-on, unhurried pace of the peace talks in Paris give the clear impression that at least one party is not seriously interested in achieving peace at this time.

Now there seems to be a gradual move toward more secret talks, something American officials have been pressing for.

Most Americans place little credence in anything the propaganda-minded North Vietnamese say, preferring to watch their actions. And with the still existing credibility gap in this country, U.S. citizens would prefer to have the talks reported openly so they can more reasonably believe what has transpired.

With the talks cloaked in secrecy, the suspicion of a sellout rises to haunt us. Mindful of past experiences verging on a sellout, we are loathe to see the talks go under wraps.

No Market Boom

Jefferson County Sheriff Richard Wells and his staff have earned appreciation from northern areas of the county and southern Columbiana County for pre-Fourth of July crackdowns on illegal sales of fireworks.

It is difficult to understand why people are willing to seek profit from the distribution of fireworks which in the hands of the careless or unknowing can burn, blind and maim.

But they do, and it is the proper responsibility of law enforcement officers to insure that they don't. District residents look hopefully to continued efforts to keep the fireworks market from "booming."

Another 'Nyet' From Russia

It's "Nyet" again from Moscow.

The Soviet Union once more has said "no" to an appeal by President Johnson for co-operation in seeking global peace.

One thing you can say for the Soviets: it's not "perhaps," it's not "maybe" or "possibly.' Usually it is a direct "No,' infrequently a "yes."

THIS TIME the Communists rebuffed the President's suggestion that relations between the two countries are improving. They even chided him somewhat for daring to suggest it.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, said relations between the United States and the Soviet Union actually are "frozen" and will continue to be at least until the Vietnam War is settled.

A political commentator writing in the Russian newspaper accused the President of painting and excessively "rosy picture" of relations between the two nations. He charged that a picture of harmonious relations was being created to satisfy critics of the American foreign policy, particularly those who oppose the war in Vietnam.

The President has spoken optimistically of negotiations for a new cultural exchange pact. Izvestia, on the other hand, said exchanges with the United States in the fields of science, culture, technology and trade have to a large extent, been frozen.

TIME AND AGAIN the article hit at the reason for this as being the United States' responsibility for the war in Vietnam.

According to the government mouthpiece, when the United States abandons the use of armed force toward other nations, then the Soviet Union will be willing to develop "normal and businesslike relations."

Translated, that means when the United States steps aside and lets the Communists pursue their Red imperialism throughout the world — essentially unopposel.

Berlin Curtain Drops Again

As extradition wheels grind slowly toward transporting James Earl Ray to the United States to stand trial in the assassination of Martin Luther King there is time to reflect favorably on the joint effort that led to his arrest.

Authorities in Canada, Portugal and England co-operated with the United States in tracking down the suspect and are continuing to co-operate by tracing all sorts of leads in trying to piece together the whole story.

THE WORLD is a big place when a man is trying to hide. The fact the suspect has remained free since the assassination April 4 and was able to get into three other countries proves a man can lose himslf — at least for a time.

Without international assistance in the form of diligent work by law enforcement agencies in individual countries, many criminals would not be brought to justice.

The process may be lengthy and exasperating, but eventually Ray will be released to U.S. authorities for trial.

SOME WILL FOLLOW the case with great interest without realizing the tremendous amount of time and energy spent inside and outside this country in chasing wild leads and checking facts that finally resulted in success.

There are other instances of cooperation between the United States and foreign nations in the fight against crime, but only when one is a "big" case is much heard of it.

The force of nations of the world working in concert against criminals is a powerful positive influence in the over-all picture of justice and should be a source of pride for citizens of the countries supporting the teamwork effort.

RAYMOND MOLEY

International Teamwork

Custom has decreed in these softer ages that changes of government should not be attained by armed might, but by exchanges of words that move men's minds and hearts. The method used by William the Conqueror to win the throne of England is not practiced so much now except in some remote and benighted countries.

In a word made popular by President Kennedy but which was lifted from a speech by Adlai Stevenson, political "dialog" must, if effective, be sprinkled with easily remembered and striking arrangements of words.

Such phrases and slogans may be the means of favorably identifying the one who uses them or they may be used as weapons to attack the opponent or the opposition. These arrangements of words may not spell out the truth nor need they be original. But they must seem at the moment to be inspired and new.

THE ARDENT FAITH of politicians in the power of words is shown by the vast sums they are willing to pay for such confections. At the moment, Nelson Rockefeller is spending millions on wordy discourse in print and over the air to win the Republican nomination.

These battalions of words are not designed directly to convince GOP delegates that they should abandon Richard Nixon. They are aimed at the general public and thus to affect the polls, and through polls change delegates' minds.

Among the many political books with which publishers are flooding the market — most of which are like houseflies and may only live out the summer — one of them deserves to live beyond November and be an authoritative reference in years to come.

It's title is "The Language of Politics" and its author, William Safire, has been in and around politics quite a bit himself.

Credit for the idea has been generally given to John F. Kennedy, who made it a major proposal in his campaign for president and, after he attained office, obtained its authorization from Congress in 1963.

But Safire points out in his book that this concept had been sponsored by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the rival of both Kennedy brothers, well before Mr. Kennedy used it in his campaign speeches.

For some years before 1960, Humphrey had been calling for the recreation of Civilian Conservation Corps which was launched in the 1930s by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Finally a friend of Humphrey, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, after a visit to Cambodia in 1957, proposed that there be a study of the idea of the Peace Corps.

The House authorized the study but Humphrey went beyond a mere study. He proposed the creation of a Peace Corps in a bill submitted to the Senate in June, 1960, which was before Mr. Kennedy had been nominated.

KENNEDY'S TWO BIOGRAPHERS differ about the origin of the Peace Corps. Arthur Schlesinger says it came from Humphrey but Theodore Sorensen finds it among the Mormons. And Gen. James Gavin adds to the confusion by saying that he heard it from a committee of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

This is an excellent example of the mixed paternity of an idea and of the arrangements of words used to define it. There are hundreds of other examples in the Safire book.

The lesson must be that while phrase-making is a powerful factor in the business of politics, the history of most famous slogans reveals a long series of plagiarisms. There is really nothing new in politics except the names and the dates.

'Mirror, Mirror On The Wall–Get Lost!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Cosa Nostra Escapes Probe

WASHINGTON — All right, let's talk about guns. Let's show some guts before they get spilled around the country.

The Cosa Nostra—which President Johnson's commission on violence won't study—has thousands of arms cached in the megalopolises on Southwest ranches, under luxurious motels, in suburban basements and within "the old neighborhoods."

Victor Riesel

Yet the violence commission, whose members have not heard a .38 go off in anger, is going to give all this a philosophical approach.

Well, can they get philosophical about fun pilfering on the waterfronts and arms thefts by the truckload?

Just about a year ago, for example, the hoods "hijacked" a shipment of 100 32-caliber pistols. The trucker was the brother of a "new" generation of men alleged by the authorities to be in the Mafia. Both brothers are "labor consultants" and "trouble shooters" for a big truck mens association, serving New York City airports and piers.

The guns were stolen while in transport from John F. Kennedy airport to a consignee in Manhattan. Last December, one of these pistols was found on Joe Saccomanno in Yonkers, N.Y. The gun toter is an associate of these very same labor consultants, one of whom was charged by the New York State Investigation Commission with being among the Cosa Nostra's most promising lads. You do as they tell you or they promise you a hit in the head—or worse.

IT'S ALL THERE in the record of the valiant New York crime commission probers.

They can tell the President, without waiting a year for the new commission to do a tour of the universities, whether there is violence in America—and why!

Some of it springs from the Cosa Nostra's invasion of such unions as the Laborers' International Union locals. Men are threatened by anonymous growling midnight telephone callers.

In other unions, where a Mafia hood turns up to loot pension and welfare funds men are beaten in basements.

There are waves of bombings and assaults all the way from New York to Chicago and down to Miami. Probe after probe is launched in New York, in Florida, in Philadelphia, in Detroit, and then dies amid old news clippings.

It is as Governor George Romney has just said: It was not 200 million people who pulled the trigger which killed Bob Kennedy, but it is the very same people who tolerate an atmosphere of violence in which killer triggermen spurt bullets.

The mob flourishes everywhere. Names of its leaders, at work or play, are known in every city. So are their connections in and out of the labor movement.

So powerful are these hoods, they terrorize even national union chiefs who try to police their thousands of local unions.

If the mob did not have friendly Congressmen, judges and local law enforcement men to turn off the heat, the hoods and their arsenals could be picked up in one week.

BUT THEN EVERYBODY would hear horrified outcries in defense of the mob's civil liberties.

Just look at the record of violence. Just two, perhaps three, of the 1,000 criminal executions in and around Chicago have been solved.

Violence may not be individual, but it is indivisible. For every life the mobs rubs out, the cost to the public runs in the tens of millions—higher construction costs for world's fairs, schools, hospitals, city halls and highways.

This is a terror tax. Yet there is no central headquarters for such information.

Why not, especially at this time? The mob has a multi-billion dollar stake in gambling, numbers, loansharking, narcotics and job-controlling fake unions in the nation's ghettos.

The mob runs unions and tells local leaders to brush off those knocking on the doors with pleas for admittance of the hard core unemployed.

The mob doesn't want the Negroes and other minorities because the hoods want the kind of union members whom they can put on ghost payrolls, and whom they can direct to their own loansharks, and whom they can tell which rooming houses to live in, which clubs and bowling alleys to play in, which grocery stores to buy in, and which bookies to sue.

IF THE UNION MEMBERS don't take such orders, they just don't keep their jobs. Newly hired hard core black workers would become an icky problem to the underworld.

So all this does lead back to violence. Yet we hear from White House aides that the President's commission will take a philosophical approach. It will be a series of sociological sit-ins.

They'll go into the reasons and possible cure of violence. They'll turn in another voluminous report. And they'll go home. That's nice too.

Maybe then we can get the public to pay some attention to crusading crime probers who have been sweating it out for years.

They know where the guns are. And they know who uses them. And why. The point now is how to prevent it—on all fronts. And no sacred cows, please. Violence is indivisible.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Adultery Ruling

The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered a decision that appears to make adultery profitable and seems to disregard laws designed to discourage immorality.

By a unanimous decision, the high court takes the position that aid to dependent children may not be denied to a mother who indulges in illicit sexual relations with a "man in the house" who is not the father of the children.

There may not always be governmental prosecution if the man or the woman benefits from the money and the care of the children is neglected.

This surprising opinion by the judges certainly was not intended to condone adultery.

BUT TOO OFTEN the high court justices become immersed in technicalities and forget that the highest principles of morality ever written were contained in the Ten Commandments and in the Sermon on the Mount as well as in the doctrines of several religions of Asia founded 10,000 years before Christ was born.

Today, however, it has become more of a legal question, and morality has become secondary.

The issue is a simple one. The state of Alabama has a law which contains a "substitute father" regulation that — under the federal program of aid to families of dependent children—denies financial assistance to a mother who "cohabits" inside or outside her home with any able-bodied man, single or married.

The Supreme Court unanimously held the Alabama law to be invalid because it is inconsistent with the federal Social Security Act. Eighteen other states and the District of Columbia have laws similar to Alabama's, and they now are presumably invalid also.

The new ruling concerns a problem which is by no means of minor importance. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates that there may be between 50,000 and 100,000 families affected, and that between 200,000 and 400,000 persons not at present eligible might become recipients of aid because of this week's decision.

The vast amount of money involved could become available to "substitute fathers" who may enjoy "The Great Society" without any legal requirement that the money be spent for the children fro whom the taxpayers are providing assistance.

A DEPENDENT CHILD is defined under the Social Security Act as a "needy child . . . who has been deprived of parental support or care by reason of the death, continued absence from the home, or physical or mental incapacity of a parent."

The state of Alabama contended that a woman having sexual relations with a man not her husband is actually providing her children with a "substitute parent." Alabama also argued that there was a reasonable basis for the regulation because its purpose was to discourage illicit sexual relationship and illegitimacy.

The Supreme Court did not base its decision on constitutional grounds. It merely held that the Alabama regulation was inconsistent with the language of the federal law—a ruling not unusual in these days of dedication to technicalities rather than to moral principles.

The chief justice, who wrote the opinion for the unanimous court, said: "It is simply inconceivable . . . that Alabama is free to discourage immorality and illegitimacy by the device of absolute disqualification of needy children." He added that "We believe Congress intended the term 'parent' . . . to include only those persons with a legal duty of support."

The suit was brought by Mrs. Sylvester Smith of Selma, Ala., against the state of Alabama. She has four minor children.

They were removed in 1966 from the list of persons eligible to receive aid to dependent children, on the ground that a Mr. Williams came to her home on weekends and had sexual relations with her. Mrs. Smith earns between $16 and $20 per week as a cook and waitress.

THE ALLEGED "substitute father," Mr. Williams, has nine children of his own and lives with his wife and family. He is not the father of any of Mrs. Smith's children.

States and cities have welfare departments. It is illogical that the granting of federal funds should have become involved in the enrichment of 'substitute fathers," while the poor children suffer the tragedy of being reared under circumstances that can hardly contribute to their future well being.

The whole thing has gotten tangled up, however, in the technicalities of the Supreme Court, which seems much more interested nowadays in the equivocal phrases of law than in adherence to accepted principles of human behavior.

Advocates Anti-Missile System

Clifford Reveals Views Differ From McNamara's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has revealed for the first time a significant difference in views from his predecessor, Robert S. McNamara.

The dispute came to light Tuesday when Clifford told a news conference that the United States should push ahead with development of the Sentinel antimissile system, something opposed by McNamara when he was secretary of defense.

The $5 billion Sentinel program, the so-called "thin missile" system, is designed to protect the United States from the relatively small-scale Red Chinese nuclear attack, thought possible by the mid-1970s.

"I believe we should have a defense against the Chinese system other than just a massive retaliatory attack," Clifford said in opposing current moves in Congress to cut funds for the Sentinel program.

McNamara's position was that the United States should concentrate on building the strength of its offensive missile program to the point where neither China nor the Soviet Union would dare attack.

He argued that there were only "marginal grounds" for concluding that a relatively light antimissile system would be effective.

When McNamara finally gave his authorization to the program last September it was with evident lack of enthusiasm and after President Johnson reportedly forced the issue.

There are grounds to believe that Clifford, then as now a close advisor to Johnson, threw decisive weight with the President in behalf of the go ahead.

However, Clifford, who succeeded McNamara March 1, appeared to agree with the former secretary in his opposition to a more complex and heavier antimissile system designed to protect against Soviet attack.

McNamara had said such a system would cost up to $40 billion and still would be relatively ineffective in saving American lives.

Clifford said Thursday that "I am informed by our experts that there is no known defense at this time to a massive attack from the Soviet Union."

But he departed from McNamara in another respect; that U.S. installation of an an missile system might trigger another round in the nuclear arms race.

He said he hoped the Russians had realized "the time has come for us both to . . . act reasonably" and agree on nuclear arms limitation.

But, Clifford said, the United States cannot let the Soviet Union think it is stronger than America.

In Rivalry For Presidential Bid

Nixon Uses Soft Answers In Tiff With Rockefeller

By The Associated Press

Richard M. Nixon is using the soft answer technique to parry Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's demands for more head-to-head fighting in their rivalry for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller said Thursday in Cleveland he wants Nixon and him to be judged side by side, trading charges and countercharges, challenges and rebuttals.

The New York governor said he wants to "sharpen the differences between us, if he gives me the chance."

Nixon shows little interest in offering Rockefeller such opportunities. Political observers rank Nixon as the front-runner in the race, Rockefeller as the one who has to come from behind.

"As far as Gov. Rockefeller is concerned," Nixon told newsmen in Chicago, "he can continue his attacks. I will not retaliate in kind."

As part of his campaign to draw Nixon into returning fire, Rockefeller began criticizing him by name for the first time Thursday. He suggested the former vice president, on the basis of his losing try for the presidency in 1960, has shown he can't win the city vote.

"Dick did well in Missouri until he got into St. Louis," Rockefeller told the GOP meeting in Cleveland. "He did well in Pennsylvania until he got into Philadelphia. He did well in Michigan until he got into Detroit. And he did well in New York until he got into New York City."

Nixon said he is sticking to his position of refusing to debate Rockefeller.

"The only real winner of a Nixon-Rockefeller debate, particularly the kind of debate that seems to be developing, would be Hubert Humphrey," he said.

Vice President Humphrey, appearing at the National Press Club Thursday, said national club priorities need to be re-examined—changed if necessary.

"It must be clear that violence, crime, looting, burning cannot be condoned and must be stopped," he said. "It must be equally clear that the conditions that breed crime and violence have to be sought out—and then rooted out."

Rev. Marshall Will Serve Out Late Fry's Term

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall of Chicago will serve out the unexpired term of the late Dr. Franklin C. Fry as president of the Lutheran Church in America, the nation's largest Lutheran group.

Dr. Marshall, at 49 the youngest of the principal contenders for the office, was elected Thursday on the third ballot at the denomination's biennial convention.

He will serve until 1970 when he must stand for re-election. Dr. Fry died two weeks ago.

Dr. Marshall said he would move immediately to New York to begin work at the national headquarters of the 3.2 million member denomination.

To assume the presidency he vacates the office of president of the Illinois synod which has 225,000 members.

Dr. Marshall is best known among church members for his book, "The Mighty Acts of God," used as a studybook for parish education. An old testament scholar, he has also written numerous articles for perlodicals.

ANN LANDERS

Child Outsmarts Father

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 5-year-old daughter is ruining our marriage. This may sound absurd, but it is true.

Two months ago Francine called for her daddy in the middle of the night. She said she was having bad dreams and wanted her daddy near so nobody could hurt her. We took her into our bed and she quieted down and went right to sleep.

For the past three weeks Francine has pulled this bad dream routine every night. I'm exhausted and a nervous wreck. I cannot sleep with the child between us. I've told my husband Francine might have had a bad dream once or twice, but now she's using it as an excuse to get into our bed.

He accuses me of being jealous of my own daughter. The two of us have been at each other's throats continually.

In the meantime, Francine is aware she is causing trouble and is enjoying it immensely. Please give me some advice. — ASUNDERED.

Dear Asundered: The female competition in your family is terrific. Francine enjoys being in the middle in more ways than one.

Your husband should wise up and not allow this miniseductress to come between him and his wife.

Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems of children. Ask him to explain Francine's racket to her daddy. He needs educating. The 5-year-old has outsmarted him.

Second Fling

Dear Ann: My sister's husband died three years ago. Sally went into a depression and the doctor suggested she go to work and get her mind off herself. (She has no children.)

At work, Sally met a married man whose wife is in a mental hospital. They fell madly in love, which makes no sense for a woman 43 yars old.

Sally is ruining the family name because of her shameless behavior. She goes everywhere with this man, even to church. I love my sister and I want her to have a respectable life. I've talked to her until I'm blue in the face but she tells me she cannot give him up and he needs her as much as she needs him.

Shall I go to the man and tell him he is married and to leave my sister alone?—INTERESTED YVONNE.

Dear Yvonne: It is not necessary for you to go to the man and tell him he is married. He knows it.

Your signature raises some questions in my mind Why are you so "Interested"? Granted, this affair is out of bounds and your sister may well regret it, but it's her decision to make, not yours. M.Y.O.B.

Wise Pop

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 17 with girl trouble. Or I should say father trouble. Hers, not mine.

Deb is very mature for 15 but her father will not let her grow up. He allows her to go out only two nights a week and she has to be in by midnight. Please tell me how to get around the old man.—HAMBONE.

Dear Ham: "You rattled the wrong cage, Bub. Two nights a week is plenty for a mature 15-year-old girl. And midnight is just about right. Down, Boy!

Nearly 5 Months After Seizure

Pueblo, Crew Becoming Political Campaign Issue

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly five months after the North Korean seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its men, the incident is becoming something of a campaign issue.

A Republican party document lists the Pueblo affair as the most dramatic illustration of its charge that America's might has weakened and its prestige abroad crumpled under Democratic leadership.

A fledgling Remember the Pueblo Committee is trying to drum up support among Republicans and candidates for its call to use force if necessary to free the ship and its imprisoned crew.

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford says patient negotiations, not precipitate action, will ultimately win back the vessel and its 82 surviving crewmen.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, running for the nation, has seen "some indication" the North Koreans may release the captives but has not gotten into specifics.

According to the U.S. version this is what happened in the crisis-provoking incident of Jan. 23:

The 906-ton Pueblo, a World War II Army cargo ship recently recommissioned with the latest electronic eavesdropping gear, was patrolling 17 miles off North Korea's Wonsan harbor at midday when a North Korean sub chaser showed up.

The gunboat signaled "Heave to or I will open fire."

The Pueblo's reply: "I am in international waters".

An hour later three more North Korean naval vessels joined the sub chaser. With MIG jet fighters zooming overhead, the sub chaser then backed toward the Pueblo and an armed boarding party went aboard the American ship.

The Pueblo was armed only with 50-caliber machine guns and had been under instructions to keep her weapons covered. The captain, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher and his men did not engage in a naval battle, but there was apparently some fighting during the boarding.

Before Pueblo's radio went silent, it reported several men were wounded. The crew destroyed all the secret equipment they could.

Fireman Duane D. Hodges of the takeover of the ship, died. All other members of the ship's company are believed alive.

Friendly forces were not near, ready or strong enough to save the Pueblo in the brief time available after receiving the ship's SOS, Washington says.

After fruitless efforts through the United Nations, the Soviets and other diplomatic channels, to win return of the ship and crew, the U.S. government focused on direct talks with the North Koreans at Panmunjom, the Korean War Truce site.

The Panmunjom sessions—17 of them have been held to date, counting the latest on May 28—have been a standoff so far.

The Communists claim the Pueblo was engaged in criminal spying as close as 7.6 miles off the North Korean coastline. They say their territorial waters extend 12 miles off shore.

The U.S. negotiators have steadfastly denied the Red charges. They say the Pueblo was in international waters well outside even the 12-mile limit.

MORE

There has been no North Korean response to the latest U.S. proposals. Washington sources said the North Koreans have rebuffed one alternative, a U.S. offer to let an impartial body investigate the incident while a neutral country holds the prisoners.

While the talks drag on the North Koreans have moved the ship from Wonsan. It is now reported to be further north, probably at Chongjin, about 180 miles further up the North Korean coast toward the Soviet border.

South Africa Set To Resume Shipments Of Gold Abroad

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Finance Minister Nicolaas Diederichs announced today that South Africa will resume gold shipments abroad.

He said in a press statement the government has agreed to make available 19 million in gold to the International Monetary Fund for France, and $23 million tot he fund for Britain, resulting in a fall in South African gold reserves held outside the country. The reserves will have to be replenished through resumed gold shipments, the minister said.

Diederichs gave no indication how or when his government would resume overseas selling of its newly mined gold, about 75 per cent of the non-Communist world's output.

South Africa "reserved its right" to act after announcement of the two-tier price system for gold. Diederichs and Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster criticized the two-tier system as a temporary gimmick and appealed for an increase in the official pegged price of $35 an ounce as the only realistic solution to international monetary problems.

South Africa's gold and foreign exchange reserves are at a record high, and it has no immediate need to sell gold for foreign exchange. But gold comprises 35 per cent of the value of South African exports normally and cannot be stockpiled forever.

Man Convicted Of Kidnaping, Gets 5-30 Years

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Charles Chasteen of Franklin was convicted Thursday on a charge of kidnaping Adams County Commissioner Forrest Mason recently.

An Adams County jury handed down the guilty verdict and Judge James Lang Jr. sentenced Chasteen to 5-30 years in the pneitentiary.

Chasteen 23, was also charged with robbing Mason but did not have a jury trial on that charge. He changed a plea of not guilty to guilty on the robbery charge and was sentenced to 10 - 25 years.

Chasteen said during the trial that he joined two others in forcing Mason into a car at gun point and then robbing him, because he was afraid of one of his companions. He referred to Walter Brogan, 25, Lathem, who was killed later in the night of the robbery when he exchanged gunfire with a Hillsboro patrolman.

14 Arrested, Heroin Confiscated In Raid

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police and federal agents staged a narcotics raid Thursday night on an East Side apartment, arresting 14 persons and confiscating $45,000 worth of heroin. Six other persons fled.

Lt. Burt Miller, head of the police narcotics unit, said 12 men and two women were nabbed.

Those arrested were booked for investigation for possession of narcotics.

The Federal Bureau of Narcotics said the apartment, alleged to be a distribution center for heroin and marijuana, is one of three places in Cleveland that has been under surveillance for several months.

Gun Deaths In U.S. 109 Since Sunday

By The Associated Press

Guns have killed 109 persons in the United States since midnight Sunday, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Homicides accounted for 57 deaths, suicides for 42 and accidental shootings 10.

The FBI has reported that approximately 6,500 persons were killed by guns in 1966 — an average of 125 homicides by firearms each week. Homocides by stabbing, strangling and other means totaled 10,920 in 1966, the FBI said.

The count of gun deaths in Ohio include Royce Huegely, 38, manager of a Columbus branch bank, who died of two rifle shots. Police said Huegely left a note in the bank's night depository admitting embezzlement of bank funds over a seven-year period. Suicide was the coroner's verdict.

Raymond Odom, 19, was approached by five or six youths along a street on Chicago's South Side Thursday night. One of the youths pulled a shotgun, fired and killed Odom, police said. There was no apparent motive, officers said.

Demands for gun-control legislation arose on the national, state and local levels after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and were renewed after the fatal shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy earlier this month brought still more urgent demands for such controls.

The Associated Press is making a one-week survey of gunshot deaths, from midnight Sunday, June 16, until midnight Sunday, June 23.

Warren

chooses the man to fill the vacancy.

The Warren years on the court have been marked by unrelenting controversy. From the historic 1954 decision on school segregation up to the equally sweeping housing discrimination handed down just this past Monday, the court's actions have been headline-makers.

Dislike For Warren

Ultraconservatives, while generally outraged at the court in general, have had special dislike for Warren. For years there have been "Impeach Earl Warren" billboards in sections where anticourt sentiment runs strong.

Through it all, the man in the eye of the storm has, to all appearances, been unflappable, retaining the outgoing and unpretentious manner that stood him well in his three scandal-free terms as governor of California before he was named to the bench.

Warren was trained in law at the University of California but never sat as a judge until, at age 62, he was picked to be the nation's highest jurist. He was no stranger to courtrooms, however, having laid the foundation for his political career with seasoning as a racket-busting district attorney and attorney general.

He was the vice presidential candidate on the 1948 Republican ticket headed by Thomas E. Dewey. When the GOP lost the election in spite of virtually unanimous forecasts that it was headed for victory, Warren explained the upset this way:

"Mr. Truman just got too many votes."

VICTIM REMOVED. Robert Means, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd. is removed by ambulance attendants from the wreckage of an auto in which he was pinned this morning with a metal rod in his leg.

One-way traffic was maintained on the freeway while the wreckage was cleared. Police said a blowout may have caused the car to go out of control. Three of the four tires on the wreckage were flattened. Officers were unable to talk with the injured to learn the details.

ming into a patrolman. There was the sharp crack of a night stick, and the man went spinning to the ground, sending droplets of blood spattering across the sidewalk.

Mood Turned Ugly

Immediately the crowd's mood turned ugly. A dinner plate sized pool of blood stained the sidewalk where the man's head had lain, and marshals shoved and pleaded with the crowd to get it to return to the Agriculture Department.

At least 20 persons were arrested there before order was restored. The crowd, now grown to about 500, police said, listened to the Rev. Jesse Jackson tell them momentary anger over a few drops of blood was not as important as attaining justice for the "rivers of blood" spilled by Negro martyrs over the years.

But as the cooled-off marchers reached the back gates of Resurrection City, some youngsters began to throw sticks and bottles aimed at police, who finally fired at least 15 cannisters of tear gas to restore order.

SCLC officials, who had not returned with the march after helping it calm down at the Agriculture Department, immediately rushed back, and managed before midnight to bring quiet and calm within the camp.

Outside, however, tension remained high. The city called out at least one-quarter of its riot control unit, arming the 36 men with rifles and tear gas guns, and everyone was edgy.

Odd Facts

The Verrazano - Narrows Bridge in New York contains three times the steel of the Empire State Building; its twin towers are as tall as a 70-story building; and its four cables could support the Queen Mary. Engineers predict that the bridge should last forever thanks to modern metals such as nickel alloy steels.

Nickel stainless steel is now available in a paint for industrial applications. The alloy, in flake form, has shown remarkable ability to fight corrosion when applied to outdoor utility installations and has reduced maintenance costs by as much as 30 per cent.

The nited States was the world's largest consumer of nickel in 1967, using an estimated 352 million pounds. Total free world consumption during the year was estimated at 825 million pounds.

Hruska said he also may offer an amendment to double the maximum penalties provided in the bill to 10 years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The House Judiciary Committee approved the administration bill 29-6 after the adoption of relatively minor amendments. Southern Democrats cast all the opposing votes.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said he hoped to have the bill ready for House action by the middle of next week.

Senate Judiciary action was postponed to next Thursday at Dodd's request, chiefly because several members were absent.

Under the administration bill, buyers of shoulder weapons would have to make their purchases in the state where they live. Not only would interstate mail order sales be banned, but dealers would be prohibited from selling over the counter to persons from another state.

Crime control legislation signed by Johnson Wednesday night provides for these restrictions on handguns.

Tax

that it would not be necessary to take any of the $6 billion out of welfare, education, health or urban affairs projects.

On the same day, however, the House Appropriations Committee, in acting on a bill for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments, slashed $300 million from Johnson's request for the antipoverty program and $200 million from elementary and secondary education outlays.

The spending controls sections in the tax bill provides that the President must make cuts to reach the $6 billion total to the extent that Congress itself does not achieve this in acting on appropriations bills.

The number of jobholders now is 244,000 above this figure. The bill requires that these 244,000 be eliminated by not filling one out of each four vacancies that occurs.

Another of these provisions requires a $10 billion reduction in appropriations for the upcoming fiscal year. This overlaps with the cuts made necessary by the $6-billion spending reduction.

The measure also directs the President to report to Congress next January as to how $8 billion of prior, unused appropriations, can be rescinded.

Other provisions in the bill:

Extend until 1970 the present 10 per cent and 7 per cent respective rates on telephone and auto excise taxes, then provide for phasing them out so they would end in 1973.

Provide for a speedup in income tax payments by smaller corporations so that eventually they would be on a current basis.

Permit jobless fathers to receive both unemployment compensation and AFDC welfare checks in the same week.

U.M. Church Conference Nearing Close

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP) — Delegates considered a variety of subjects — including liquor control laws, the Vietnam war and poverty and racial problems—Thursday as the North-East Ohio Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church drew near a close.

Reading of ministerial assignments for the coming year by Bishop Francis E. Kearns today closes the conference.

Delegates called upon the state legislature to examine existing liquor control laws and to re-establish the State Liquor Control Board as an agency of protection. They said safety and welfare of citizens should be the criteria for issuance of permits.

The conference called for a ban on Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages, including 3.2 per cent beer. It also urged that no liquor permits be issued to establishments within 500 feet of any school, church, playground, library or child care center.

The delegates commended President Johnson for recent steps toward negotiation in an effort to restore peace to Vietnam and urged that "these be vigorously pursued, implemented and increased until they culminate in realistic negotiations."

Nearly $105,000 was pledged launching a drive to raise $700,000 from Methodists in the Ohio East Area to help fight poverty and racial problems in America.

Misreading Radar Signals Tied To Errant Reports

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. sources indicated today that misreading of radar signals may have caused erroneous reports of enemy helicopter sightings around the demilitarized zone and triggered mistaken American attacks on allied warships in the area.

The sources said it was "highly probable" that American planes and artillery fired last weekend on allied ships, which on radar scopes appeared to be low-flying helicopters. A U.S. patrol boat was sunk and an Australian destroyer got 200 holes from American missiles.

The U.S. Command had no further comment today. A spokesman said only that an investigation is still going on and no official comment will be made until it is completed.

The reported sightings of moving aerial lights and radar traces interpreted as enemy helicopters began last Saturday and continued all week. South Vietnamese sources claimed that 12 Russian-made 'copters were shot down below the demilitarized zone by American planes or artillery. But despite intense air reconnaissance, there have been no reports of any wreckage.

All the reported activity has been at night and unconfirmable by visual observation.

The U.S. Command, apparently dubious of the helicopter reports, has ordered its fighter-bombers and artillery to hold fire in the area to avoid hitting any more allied surface vessels.

One source said that surface craft showing up on radar scopes could appear to be low-flying helicopters, especially at night.

The moving lights that were sighted were observed through telescopes which electronically increase the available light so they can be used at night. The lights appeared to be six or eight miles away, but it is difficult to determine distances through these night scopes, and helicopters reported over or south of the demilitarized zone actually could have been flying north of the zone.

On the Saigon war front, meanwhile, the U.S. Command accused the Viet Cong of another indiscriminate rocket attack during the night on the capital. Six civilians were killed and 23 wounded. Some rockets hit near two hospitals. It was the heaviest bombardment of Saigon in 10 days. The U.S. Command sent waves of Air Force B52s to pound enemy rocket storage areas and distribution points 35 miles north of Saigon. More than 20 of the big bombers dropped 500 tons of explosives.

While U.S. headquarters termed the attack indiscriminate, the enemy gunners apparently were aiming for Tan Son Nhut Air Base, which includes Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' "Pentagon East" headquarters, and the adjoining South Vietnamese military headquarters.

Four of the rockets overshot the base 150 to 600 yards and landed in civilian areas.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 129 missions Thursday against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, concentrating on trucks and supply boats. Pilots reported damaging or destroying 35 trucks and 12 supply boats and setting off 20 secondary explosions, indicating hits on ammunition and fuel.

The U.S. Command in its weekly report on American aircraft losses announced that a total of 856 American warplanes have been downed in combat over North Vietnam.

PHOTOSENSITIZATION

Q. Late last summer I experienced a severe sunburn following very brief exposure to the sun. This had never happened before. A doctor diagnosed the condition as photosensitization. Exactly what does this mean?

A. Photosensitization is the process by which body cells or tissue (in this case, the skin) become highly sensitive to light waves which would ordinarily produce little or no reaction. Various substances, including certain drugs, chemicals and plants, can induce photosensitization. Some toilet soaps contain additives which are known to cause photosensitization in some people.

SANDPAPER SURGERY

Q. As a teenager I had severe acne which left my face quite pitted. Would sandpaper surgery help?

A. Sandpaper surgery (dermabrasion or skin planing) has generally lost favor among dermatologists. One prominent skin doctor says that the procedure was doomed to failure from the start because of two factors. One, in order to plane deeply enough to remove many or most pitted scars on the face, the surgical procedure itself will produce scars. Secondly, improvement is limited and not easily recognized since some scars and pits remain.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

We're living in an era of fast changes.

Nowhere is this more apparent than in the field of local coaching positions. As was pointed out several weeks ago, there will be new football coaches at Oak Glen, Beaver Local and Wellsville this fall, as well as at Southern Local and Columbiana. Now it seems certain that Midland can be added to that list.

With the departure of Bob Starkey and Vince Monseau, Oak Glen will need new head coaches in basketball, wrestling and track, as well as football. Hancock County coaches are in a fluid situation, with the decision of the county school board to declare all posts open and to allow a man to be head coach in only one sport. Weir High's football coach, Carl Fodor, has said he will not continue in that position.

IT SEEMS certain now, however, that there will be no new football coach at East Liverpool this fall. The animosity between Bob McNea and certain teachers apparently still exists, but things seem to be stalemated for the present. McNea is not an easy person to know, and has the ability to rub a lot of people the wrong way, but on the other hand he has many supporters in East Liverpool. The teachers' charges against him, confused by a mass of verbage, stem from personality conflicts. I'm not quite sure what the legal gripe is, but I know that if the foreman of the printers at The Review went to George Shaw, the publisher, and complained that I was overpaid or that I had a soft job, he would be out of line. But if he complained that I was hard to work with, and gave the printers a lot of trouble, then he would have a legitimate gripe. It's hard to tell into which category the McNea case falls.

NOBODY, not even the teachers who filed the grievance in the case, is contemptuous of McNea's ability as a football coach. All admit that he has done a fine job here. Likewise, no one can deny that Clint McConnel has done an excellent job as basketball coach in the past two seasons, compiling the best percentage in the history of the school. East Liverpool was rated in the top 13 in the state in both basketball and football by both wire services, a record hard to match. It would be a shame to lose the services of any qualified coach through a political intra-school squabble.

Letter To The Editor

As a hunter, sportsman and life member of the National Rifle Association, and because of the contents of your column in The East Liverpool Review June 11, I feel that I must take exception to your views on the National Rifle Association and the hunter as a sportsman.

First of all, I would like to say that the lack of knowledge you have shown on the subject of hunting and the NRA was exceeded only in the ignorant manner in which you expressed your opinion. The National Rifle Association of America, founded in 1871, is an independent, non-profit organization supported by membership fees. Its purposes are to educate public-spirited citizens in the safe and efficient use of small arms for pleasure and protection; to foster firearms accuracy and safety in law-enforcement agencies, in the Armed Services and among citizens subject to military duty; and to further the public welfare and national defense.

The NRA, comprised of over 960,000 members (which makes it the largest SPORTSMEN'S organization in the world) takes the bedrock stand that law-abiding Americans are constitutionally entitled to the ownership and legal use of firearms.

Anarchy and chaos could occur in our society (with NO help from the NRA) if the lawbreakers are not punished to the fullest extent of the law instead of being returned to the public. Too many times I have read of persons being convicted to robbery, rape and even murder, serving a few years in jail and being released on parole or because of a ruling by the Supreme Court that the person might not have had a fair trial, only to commit their crimes over again. The NRA supports legislation such as the Casey Bill (H.R. 360) which imposes stiff MANDATORY penalties for the misuse of guns while committing a crime.

We believe that this will deter the criminal or would-be criminal from committing another crime, or his first crime, with a firearm in his possession. We believe that any person would think twice before committing a crime with a firearm, if he realizes he faces a mandatory 15 or 20-year prison term should he decide to do so.

As for hunting, the hunters of America have done more in the area of conservation than all of the other groups combined. It was the hunters who insisted on the making and enforcing of the game laws now in existence. I, am sure that you are unaware of the hundreds and thousands of deer each year that are dying of starvation in the mountains of Pennsylvania and other states simply because not enough of them are being harvested by the hunters.

I am equally sure that you have never hunted game animals such as deer or you could not label them "defenseless." If the statements you made in your column is any indication of your intelligence, you would have been outsmarted by the animal every time.

The NRA will, in the future, as they have done in the past, support legislation aimed at keeping the criminal behind bars and away from guns, while protecting the law-abiding citizens "right to keep and bear arms" as guaranteed in the Constitution.

Cubs Set Scoreless Mark; Pirate Streak Ended At 9

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lippy Leo Durocher is almost as silent these days as the bats his Chicago Cubs are using. Bullet Bob Gibson is letting his strong right arm do the talking.

It was just like old times for Durocher as Gibson and the St Louis Cardinals blanked Chicago 1-0 Thursday—but they're times the Cub manager would rather forget.

For the Cubs, it was their fourth straight shutout defeat, tying a major league record. And their string of 46 consecutive scoreless innings broke the National League mark of 45 set by Cincinnati in 1931 and is two short of the major league record of 48 by the 1906 Philadelphia Athletics.

For Gibson, it was his fourth shutout in a row and ran his scoreless streak to 38 innings. Don Drysdale of Los Angeles recently set all-time records of six straight shutouts and 58 2-3 scoreless innings.

Cards Win Again

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta tripped Cincinnati 3-1, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 2-1, Pittsburgh trounced Los Angeles 7-3 in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader but lost the nightcap 3-2 in 10 innings, and the New York Mets turned back Houston 5-3.

When the 1931 Cincinnati Reds went 45 innings without a run they had a good-field, no-hit shortstop named—you guessed it—Leo Durocher, who batted all of .227 that season. The Lip returned to the scene of the crime Thursday night as the Cubs flew to Cincinnati for a weekend series.

Lou Brock gave Gibson the only run he needed when he tripled with two out in the fourth off Ferguson Jenkins, 6-8, and scored on a single by Curt Flood for the Cards' 19th win in 23 games.

Milt Pappas, traded from the Reds to the Braves two weeks ago, pitched 5 2-3 innings in picking up his first victory for Atlanta, and his former Cincinnati teammates were the victims. Pappas allowed seven hits before leaving the game with a pulled side muscle.

The right-hander also contributed a key bunt single and scored the final run as the Braves broke a tie with two runs in the fifth.

A wild pitch by San Francisco's Ray Sadecki helped Philadelphia to a pair of first-inning runs and Rick Wise made them stand up by pitching a six-hitter as the Phillies nipped the Giants.

Cookie Rojas, who doubled, was on third and Richie Allen on first with an intentional pass when Sadecki uncorked his wild pitch. Rojas scored and Allen came home a few minutes later on Tony Taylor's single.

Steve Blass hurled no-hit ball for 6 2-3 innings as the Pirates won their opener from the Dodgers behind a 13-hit attack. Blass retired the first 15 batters before walking Paul Popovich. The first hit was Tom Haller's two-out double in the seventh.

But Pittsburgh's nine-game winning streak came to an end in the nightcap when pinch hitter Jim Fairey belted his first major league home run two out in the 1th inning.

Tom Seaver struck out 12 and touched off two rallies with an infield single and a lost-in-the-sun double as the Mets beat Houston. Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a third-inning sacrifce fly and a three-run homer in the fifth off Larry Dierker. Art Shamsky also homered for the Mets.

Nips Jim Hines In 9.9

Charlie Greene Breaks World 100-Meter Mark

By RON RAPOPORT

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Charlie Greene says he and Jim Hines figure they are about the best around when it comes to running 100 meters.

There are perhaps half a dozen sprinters at the Amateur Athletic Union's Track and Field Chamionships who are pretty good themselves, but hardly have a case to argue with Greene.

All during the finals of the dash Thursday, the times were phenomenal—Hines won his heat in a wind-aided 9.8, two-tenths under the listed world mark—so much so that when they measure the track to reconfirm the distance, some skeptics expect it to come up a couple of meters short.

In their respective semifinal heats, both Greene and Hines turned in world record clockings of 9.9 and then Greene went out and nipped Hines in the final, a race that had the first six finishers timed in 10.0.

Wagner's HR Tops Tribe

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland waited hopelessly for a couple of months for Leon Wagner to hit a homer before dealing him off to Chicago for Russ Snyder a week ago.

The Indians didn't wait long enough.

Wagner's first round-tripper of the season Wednesday night ignited a six-run uprising that boosted the White Sox from behind and to an 8-4 conquest of his old mates.

Meanwhile, Denny McLain used a long-dormant pitch to baffle Boston with a dandy three-hitter and Mickey Stanley drove in four runs in propelling Detroit to a 5-1 victory and an 8½ game lead in the American League—the Tigers' biggest margin this season.

All other American League teams were idle.

"Man, that was a good feeling, having my first big day of the season, and it was the first installment on my White Sox pay check," said Wagner of the two-run shot into the right field stands.

It was the 211th of his major league career, but his first since late last summer.

A run-scoring single by Tommy Davis, Ken Berry's RBI double and a two-run double by pitcher Tommy John, who chalked up his sixth straight without a loss, capped the outburst that shoved the Indians from second to fourth place in the torrid battle for the runner-up spot.

Baltimore, Minnesota and Cleveland—all 8½ games out—are separated by only two percentage points.

McLain, first American Leaguer to win 12 games this season, relied on a "sidearm fastball" he hasn't used for years to tame the Red Sox for 6 2-3 innings before George Scott and Elston Howard came up with consecutive singles.

The 5-foot-11, 185-pounder, who has lost only twice, said he stopped using the pitch three season's ago after a pulled bicep muscle in his right arm bothered him when he threw it.

"It's no miracle pitch," said McLain, "but these guys haven't seen it for three years."

Still, Devlin Leading Canadian Open Golf

TORONTO (AP) — Billy Casper has the gallery at the $125,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship wondering what will happen when he stops driving for show and starts puting.

Casper, one of the deadliest men around the greens on the U.S. professional golf circuit, took 34 putts in the opening round Thursday and still wound up just two strokes behind the first-round leaders—Bruce Devlin of Australia and Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash.

Still and Devlin, who admitted they "played with a great deal of luck," carded three-under-par 67s over the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club layout.

Casper shot a 60 to tie with five other Americans and Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., for third place in the 72-hole tournament that carries a $25,000 first-place prize. The tourney ends Sunday.

"Those greens take a lot of playing after a miss because they're so rolly," said Casper, who is aiming for his third straight tournament victory in Canada.

Fraley's teammates on the South squad already have made their choices. Tipp City's Danny Furlong is headed for Tennessee Tech while Randy Smith, one of the stars on the Columbus East team that captured the Class AA championship, is going to William & Mary. Foreigners Lead Ladies PGA Golf

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Germany's Gerda Walen and Canada's Sandra Post held a one-stroke lead entering the second round of the $20,000 Ladies PGA Championship today as most of America's foremost golf pros attempted to bounce back in mailman fashion.

Despite winds gusting to more than 40 miles an hour, Mrs. Whalen, 30, a widowed mother of a young daughter, and pretty Sandra, a resident of Oakville, Ont., fired one-under-par 72s Thursday in the start of the 72-hole tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

The start of the tournament was plagued by medical and legal overtures. Carol Mann, suffering from muscle spasms in the neck and upper back, had to withdraw after 11 holes, while Peggy Wilson and Sandra McClinton required hospital treatment for minor ailments.

Miss Mann, the LPGA's biggest money winner this year, collapsed shortly after picking up and was carried off in a stretcher. She regained consciousness shortly after arrival at a hospital in nearby Worcester and was expected to be discharged today.

In the legal end, Miss Mann, defending champion Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Haynie, 1967 officers of the LPGA, were served summonses on the 10th tee.

The trio, along with the LPGA as a grout and tour director Leonard Wirtz, are involved in a $1¼ million suit filed for Beverly Klass, a 10-year-old girl denied permission to play in the 1967 LPGA Championship here.

Despite the service, Miss Haynie equalled par with a 38-35—73, while Miss Whitworth was just one over with 39-35—74. Pro tour rookie Jane Woodworth and veteran Sandra Spuzich aleo had 74s.

Four-time LPGA champion Mickey Wright, winner of four of six tournaments on tour this year, soared to a 78.

Jean DeKat Reported Well

Yachtsman Recovered By Norwegian Freighter

LONDON (AP) — French yachtsman Jean De Kat was reported fit and well aboard a Norwegian freighter today after surviving three days in the mid-Atlantic in a tiny rubber life raft.

De Kat, 27, took to the raft Tuesday after his three-hulled yacht Yaksha broke up in a storm which scattered competitors in the single-handed trans-Atlantic race.

Fourteen others of the original 35 entrants have not been heard or sighted since the storm but race organizers are not yet worried. Eight carried no radio transmitters and others may be out of radio range or deliberately keeping their positions secret.

The race, sponsored by the London Observer newspaper, started from Plymouth, England, June 1 with Newport, R.I., as the destination. Traditional single-hulled yachts so far seem to be making better progress than the experimental designs—twin-hulled catamarans and three-hulled trimarans.

De Kat, a bearded artist with long deep sea experience, built the 50-foot Yaksha himself. It raised a good many eyebrows when it arrived at Plymouth for the start.

Yachting men doubted that Yaksha could stand an Atlantic battering.

On Tuesday a Trans World Airliner captain heard De Kat calling for help. He reported his mast was broken and rudder gone, and that one of the outrigger hulls had been torn away.

A Royal Air Force plane of the Atlantic patrol spotted his life raft as dusk neared Thursday night and guided the 10,000-ton Norwegian freighter Jagona to the rescue.

Leaders of the Atlantic race are expected to reach Newport next week.

Two English yachts, both of conventional design, are believed to be up front—the Sir Thomas Lipton, sailed by Geoffrey Williams, and Myth of Malham, sailed by Noel Bevan.

German Elze Dies After Fight Injury

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — German middleweight champion Jupp Elze is dead and Carlo Duran, Elze's final opponent, is due here to pay him final tribute.

Elze died Thursday, eight days after he collapsed unconscious in the 15th round of his fight for Duran's European middleweight title. Duran was awarded a technical knockout.

A spokesman for Cologne's University Clinic, where Elze was rushed after collapsing, said the cause of the 28-year-old boxer's death was a collapse of the blood circulation.

In Rome, Duran burst into tears upon learning of Elze's death and said he would go to Cologne for Elze's funeral.

In New York, Ring Magazine said its records showed one other boxing fatality this year, that of a London amateur. Ring said there were four boxing fatalities last year.

Waterford Double 9-5 Pays $834

Solaris Lad set up the big payoff when he won the first race under apprentice Tommy Reynolds and paid $19.80.

The winner, who was four lengths in front turning into the stretch, lost command to the favored Brother Royal some 30 yards from the wire, and it appeared as if Brother Royal would win by himself.

But, as Brother Royal moved up on the outside of Solaris Lad, the horse suddenly headed for the rail and began bothering Solaris Lad.

Jockey Joe Calvello, who was up on the public choice, had no alternative but to pull Brother Royal off his rival. When he did, Brother Royal turned stubborn and pulled himself up to a walk.

All the action took place within a few yards of the finish line, and it was Solaris Lad who kept on running to win it. Brother Royal still managed to hold second, while Timran was a close third.

Calvello was soundly booed by the fans, none of whom realized what really happened in those final seconds of the race.

In the second, Jockey Lanny Kress was spilled heavily from Base Hit in the run down the backstretch when Base Hit clipped the heels of the favored One Eyed Cat.

Kress, who had been involved in a spill June 11 when he fell with Namua, was making his first appearance since then.

Tonight, the 24-year-old rider from Carson, Iowa was not nearly so lucky, as the first diagnosis was that he had suffered a broken collar bone.

Towering Top, under Jeff Kessler, was almost totally ignored by the fans and paid $52.20 for every $2 win ticket.

Another accident put Jockey Alfonso Coy out of action.

Arizona St. Leads NCAA Golf Tourney

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — "The only good lead is the lead after 72 holes," said Oklahoma State's Grier Jones, as if giving himself an incentive in the NCAA Golf Championships that he is dominating.

He referred to his two-stroke lead after 36 holes entering today's third round on the 71st NCAA tournament and the one-stroke margin Arizona State held over his own Cowboys in the team race.

Arizona State golfer Mike Morley finished with a 69 Thursday, his opening nine-hole score of 30 breaking a New Mexico State University course record.

Morley's teammate, Paul Purtzer, shot his second straight 68 and stood three strokes behind the front-running Jones, and one stroke behind second-place Allen Miller of Georgia.

Runaway Engine Careens 98 Miles Through Kansas

KINSLEY, Kan. (AP) — A maverick locomotive started by a mysterious malfunction took off without its engineer and careened 98 miles through the Kansas countryside Thursday, leading a Keystone Kops chase by deputies, police and spectators.

The two-unit diesel Santa Fe locomotive, which averaged at better than mile-a-minute clip during its 84-minute ride, was purposely derailed near Kinsley to end its unscheduled excursion.

During its run highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and police raced against time as they tried to block crossings ahead of the wild runaway that sped through nine towns at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

No one was hurt but there were several narrow escapes. Along the route officers had to contend with crowds of sightseers who flocked to the tracks for a glimpse of the speeding maverick.

The engine nearly hit a pedestrian and several automobiles at street crossings.

J. R. Fitzgerald, division superintendent, promised a thorough investigation.

It all began about 4 p.m. when the locomotive, freshly serviced and with its engine idling, quietly rolled off a roundhouse spur at Hutchinson onto the branch line that sweeps along the Arkansas River.

Apparently something went wrong with the "dead man's throttle"—designed to prevent the unit from moving unless a man's hand is applying pressure on the lever. Suddenly the train started moving.

Picking up speed on its way out of Hutchinson, the engine nearly hit one pedestrian and several automobiles at street crossings.

On the western edge of town, Harold Crain, a track supervisor from division headquarters at Newton, was operating a motorized handcar as he inspected the track.

Suddenly he looked up to see the locomotive charging at him.

"I lifted one end of my car off the tracks, but I could see there wasn't time to finish it, so I just stepped back and waved it goodby," Crain said.

He said smoke was boiling off the brakes "then the brakes burned out and the engine really took off." Sparks from the scorching brakes ignited grass fires for several miles outside Hutchinson.

Station agents were alerted over the railroad's voice network and Stanley Stout, the Sterling agent, started logging the times.

Santa Fe workers sent a chase engine in pursuit out of Larned, but the wild one had a five-minute head start on the 26-mile run to the connection with the main line at Kinsley. They knew there wasn't time.

So the Newton dispatcher sent the order:

"Derail it at the Y east of Kinsley."

Don Cargill, Kinsley agent, relayed the order to George Stone, section foreman, who threw the switch three-fourths of a mile from town.

"The switch headed it into the siding," Cargill said. "It was going so fast it couldn't make the curve. It rolled over on its side and tore up some track and knocked down some telephone poles."

Boys' State Rejects Gun Control Bill

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Delegates to Buckeye Boy's State head for home today after the school in self - government's model legislature failed to approve stringent gun control legislation sought by Gov. Gregory Huth.

Graduation ceremonies were scheduled for this morning for the 1,360 high school juniors from around Ohio who have been here the past week participating in the American Legion sponsored program.

The Boy's State legislature adjourned Thursday after the House rejected 72-27 a Senate-aproved gun control bill that had been sought by Huth.

Boy's State trustees also met Thursday and elected Charles E. Copeland of Columbus as president.

BIG NAME ATTRACTIONS TO COME

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV's Damper On Comedy

TV's Damper on Comedy I

Every now and then a press agent comes along with the nerve to hail his client as "another W. C. Field ," or "another Fanny Brice."

Hal Humphrey

Fields and Miss Brice were originals, and they've never been replaced. Nor have Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton or Laurel & Hardy. I think the reason for this is TV. It not only doesn't create originals, but tends to detroy those who might be.

I thought of this while watching Imogene Coaca in a TV commercial plugging the rejuvenating powers of a tonic. Yes, the same inimitable Imogene who 15 years ago was creating those marvelous comedy characters with Sid Caesar on "Your Show of Shows."

I DON'T KNOW if she has been reduced to this by financial circumstances, but whatever the reason, I blame it on TV. The medium will use her as a silly character in a silly commercial, but not as the comic genius she is.

If W. C. Fields had lived during the days of TV, I shudder to think of what it might have done to him He probably would have wound up on a panel show like the late, great Fred Allen, or plugging a potato chip like the late Bert Lahr or Buddy Hackett, who is doing one now.

Hacket is a very funny man whom TV locked into a tired situation comedy some years ago, and when that didn't work, the medium found nothing for him except spots on panel shows and talk shows like Carson's or Bishop's.

RED SKELTON, Jackie Gleason and Lucille Ball are the only comics who've managed to survive TV through the years, and I've decided it's because they are great pantomimists.

What they say doesn't matter so much as what they do with their faces and bodies as they say it. Because on TV, you aren't supposed to say anything really fresh or funny. It worries the bosses who are afraid of topical humor or satirical humor. It causes controversy and offends some people.

That's why TV never really found a place for Fred Allen. He had a viewpoint —a very pointed one — on the world and its foibles. Groucho Marx managed for several years to get his viewpoint across under the camouflage of a game show, yet he was upbraided by the network every once in while for being "too rough" on a guest.

IRREVERENCE is a large part of comedy, but TV wants no part of it. In a mild way the Smothers Brothers have tried it, and Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," and they are under constant surveillance by their networks to make sure they don't go "too far."

George Gobel was a big hit on TV as long as he could be impudent about some of our sacred institutions, but as the rating got higher and the money for George bigger, he, too, was ground down by a medium whose motto is "Be Careful." George does commercials now, too.

Don Rickles, whose comedy is based on the personal insult, got such rave notices from his guest shots on TV the past season, he's been signed to do his own series. I haven't seen it yet, but I know that the minute he tries to expand his type of humor as he does in night clubs to include racial jokes, the blue pencil will come down on his scripts and he'll be confined to a smaller and smaller circle until the audience will find nothing new to laugh at.

SO DON'T tell us, you publicity spreaders, that you have another W. C. Fields or Chaplin or whomever, because even if you had and you put him on TV he'd soon be relegated to selling potato chips or doing a spot now and then on a late talk show, and that isn't enough experience to allow him to grow with his art.

He'll have to stay underground, in the few night clubs around the country, if he really wants to practice sharp comedy about things going on in the world today.

Shelley Berman told me recently that he sees TV opening up, but I don't believe it, and comics like Godfrey Cambridge and Mort Sahl don't either. TV is too rich and too scared to come up with a modern-day W. C. Fields.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ohio Republican delegation split its vote drastically Thursday as the House passed the tax increase - spending cut report.

Ohio Republicans voting with the majority were Ayres, Betts, Bow, Brown, Latta, McCulloch, Mosher and Stanton while the remainder of the GOP delegation from the Buckeye State voted in the minority.

Swift Gulf Stream Current Foils Lone Sailor's Voyage

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The lonely ocean voyage of Hugo Vihlen, so close to triumphant conclusion, apparently fell prey to the swift current in the Gulf Stream Thursday night and as his six-foot sailboat went bobbing north of his destination.

Vihlen planned to end his 4,700-mile solo trip across the Atlantic today in Biscayne Bay near Miami. But the Gulf Stream carried him miles north, past Fort Lauderdale.

As his family and an armada of well-wishers waited, Vihlen and his six-foot boat were reported seven miles off the Florida coast and five miles north of Fort Lauderdale—about 30 miles north of his target. Nobody was quite certain where to set up the welcome party.

"We can only make guesses as to where and when he'll land," a Coast Guard officer said. "If he's having trouble getting out of the Gulf Stream, he could go as far north as Palm Beach before making land." Palm Beach is 75 miles north of Miami.

The officer said he may have thrown out sea anchors and sat out the night rather than attempt a landing on an unfamiliar point on the coast.

The last sighting came as dark fell Thursday when a civilian airplane radioed that the tiny boat was sailing smoothly and that her bearded captain made no signal for assistance.

The Coast Guard said the commercial airline pilot's sudden appearance off the south Florida coast, after being reported Wednesday as being 200 miles away, was made possible by the Gulf Stream.

The April Fool is 5 feet, 11 inches in length and 5 feet in beam.

It is equipped with two sails rigged so that Vihlen can set the sails and rudder, allowing the boat to maintain course by itself.

The sails are fixed to a rotating mast so Vihlen can let the sheets in or out simply by turning it.

Local Gives To 4th Fund After Debate

United Steelworkers Local 1212 of Midland waived a standing "no donation" ruling Thursday and made a $1,000 contribution to the July Fourth celebration following a stormy session.

Al Lona, president, reported the executive board authorized the donation but part of the membership argued it already had given nearly $3,900 through contributions from pay at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. They also said as members of the local they had not received any credit.

The group charged the gift was credited to the company rather than the local union.

After rescinding the ruling, adopted in August 1967, and a vote to make the donation, the rule was reinstituted by the membership. In former years the local had donated $1,500.

In other business, the call to the 15th annual USW constitutional convention at Chicago Aug. 19 was read. Lona was nominated and elected by acclamations as one of the delegates. Nine other delegates will be elected at an election to be set by the executive board.

A letter was received from Ohioville Borough officials thanking the local for its part in the strike - free contract agreed to with Crucible.

Congress Ignoring Track Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate track critics have backed down on their threat to force the nation's colleges to bow to Amateur Athletic Union control of track meets.

Instead, the Senate Commerce Committee suggested Thursday that a new super group be created to govern amateur track in the United States.

But it passed the baton to another committee so far unconcerned with the long feud between the colleges and the AAU, making it almost certain that Congress will not take any action in the few busy working weeks it has left this year.

The colleges have declared a truce in the track war until after the Olympic Games in Mexico City Oct. 12-27. But the U.S. Track and Field Federation already has signalled that it will resume running its own mets after Nov. 1 in defiance of the AAU.

The USTFF and its powerful parent, the National Collegiate Athletic Union, turned down a Senate-nurtured compromise settlement earlier this year that would have left the AAU with supremacy in setting the standards for track meets.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, threatened immediately to write the suggested settlement into law and force the colleges to accept it.

Although Magnuson had aides prepare a bill to do just that, the measure has never been introduced, and Senators on the committee lined up at a closed session Thursday in favor of the super group instead.

Magnuson's committee went on record urging the Senate Judiciary Committee to approve a pending resolution by Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., to create an 11-member governing board including representatives of the AAU, the colleges and other track factions.

The USTFF would be happy with this, and said so two months ago when it turned down the original compromise. The super group would recognize the colleges' voice in track matters and break the stranglehold of the AAU as sole authority over amateur track.

Student Program Outlined During Lisbon Meeting

LISBON — The American Field Service, which provides scholarships for boys and girls from foreign countries to spend a year in U.S. high schools, had its origin during World War I.

Wallace King, president of the Salem chapter of AFS, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon that the agency's first project was providing ambulances and recruiting drivers.

He said the AFS did some work between World Wars I and II in the field of international understanding through college scholarships for foreign students in France, but pointed out the high school scholarships activity was not launched until 1947. Since then some 40,000 students have studied in the U.S. and lived with host families in approximately 3,000 local chapters.

The Hubbard Kiwanis Club brought AFS to northeastern Ohio, establishing the initial chapter 10 or 12 years ago, King said. This area now has 30 chapters.

World peace through understanding is the organization's objective, King said.

King showed pictures of the nine students who have attended Salem High Scholl since the city chapter was formed in 1960.

Jacob ten Cate of Santpoort, The Netherlands, the 1967-68 AFS scholar at Salem, accompanied King to the luncheon meeting at the Masonic Temple. He told Kiwanians he is thankful for the opportunity to learn about this country and tell citizens here about his homeland.

The Rev. Fred Shiltz was program chairman. A. Monty Muntean, president, presented both speakers certificates of appreciation.

A stainless steel railway car powered by two aircraft - type gas turbine engines is being tested by New York's Long Island Rail Road. Initial tests show no "jet scream" or dust and no noticeable vibration or odor. Nickel alloys help to make the turbine heat- and corrsion-resistant.

Jetliners land at almost 200 miles per hour. To help them come to a stop, nickel alloys are used in critical areas of "thrust reversers" attached to each engine, which catch the hot gases normally propelling the plane, and divert them forward to slow it down.

Plane Lands In Venezuela After Hijack

CARACAS (AP) — A Venezuelan airliner with 79 persons aboard landed in Caracas today 22 hours late. It had been hijacked by a grenade-wielding Dominican and forced to fly to Cuba.

The pilot, Capt. Harry Gibson, said the 74 other passengers and five crew members were well treated during their unexpected stay Thursday in Santiago, eastern Cuba's chief city. The hijacker, identified only as a young Dominican, presumably was given asylum in Cuba.

Four U.S. citizens were among the passengers: Army Col. Henry Joslin, chief of the U.S. Military Assistance Group in the Dominican Republic; his wife, Wanda; William W. Taylor of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., and Russell Edwards, who was not otherwise identified.

Gibson said the hijacker entered the cockpit 29 minutes after Viasa Airlines flight 797 took off from Santo Domingo for Curacao and Caracas.

"He had a grenade in his hand," said the 51-year-old pilot. "He told us to fly to Havana, but I explained we did not have enough fuel for this and had to land in Santiago."

He said the hijacker did not object.

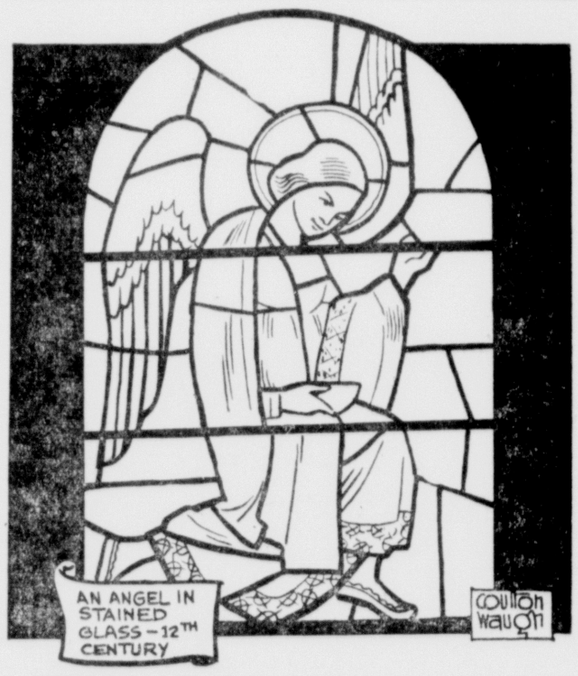
Junior Editors Quiz on STAINED GLASS



QUESTION: How were the stained glass windows in cathedrals made?

ANSWER: Potatoes originally came from South America. The first we hear about them is a mention in a Spanish book that they were growing in Peru and Colombia by 1538. By 1550, Spaniards had introduced potatoes into Europe, where they were widely grown, especially in England and Ireland. They were then brought to the Virginia colonies in America, probably from England, in 1621. Our quaint illustrations at the top are from an old book showing potatoes growing in the Jamestown colony in Virginia in 1629. While on the subject of potatoes, we'd like to suggest some fun ways of cooking them outdoors this summer. Take along some aluminum foil, wrap the foods to be cooked in a double layer and put the package under hot coals. The boy at the left has cut some strips of potato, added hamburger and strips of carrot, and cooked them for 15 minutes. His foil serves as a plate. The boy at the right has dug a hole in the earth, kept a fire over it for half an hour, then scraped the fire aside and put in potatoes. He covered them with a thin layer of earth, then with more fire and cooked them for about an hour. Served with salt they're great.

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — The home of Mrs. Gilbert Marshall was the setting Wednesday afternoon for the annual tea of the Lisbon Garden Club. Flower arrangements were featured throughout the house.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Leo Hochmann, president, with plans advanced for the Johnny Apleseed booth at the fall festival. A report was made on the shrubbery and plantings the club provided at the Sadie P. Van Fossan swimming pool and on the Square.

The new officers for the 1968-69 season were announced as: Miss Lucille Bennett, president; Mrs. Donald Tanner, vice president; Mrs. Russell Shaw, treasurer; Mrs. Perlee Bye, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Wright, corresponding secretary

Mrs. Frank Henry reviewed the book "There Goes What's her Name," the life story of Virginia Graham.

Mrs. Byron Albright and Mrs. Bye presided at the tea table which was laid in a pale green cloth with a white embossed nylon overlay. Two fans with nosegays at the bases from which flowed ribbon streamers in shades of pink and with silver accessories completed the setting. An arrangement of pink carnations, roses in pink and white mums enhanced the tea cart.

A picnic was planned for the July 16 meeting. Members are to take table service and a coverdish. It will be held at the country home of Mrs. John Hochmann of Franklin Square Rd.

Hutchings Succeeds Brown As Nonviolent Group Leader

NEWARK (AP) — Philip Hutchings, a soft spoken, young black organizer in Newark has been chosen to succeed Rap Brown as leader of the Student Nonvoilent Coordinating Committee.

An informant in the Negro community here said of the change, "SNCC seems to want to get away from the cult of personality that Brown and Stokely Carmichael developed and go back to the unglamorous but necessary job of organizing grass-roots people around specific programs."

Hutchings, 26, is reliably reported to have been elected at a meeting last weekend in Atlanta, the group's headquarters.

SNCC has refused to confirm the story for "the white press," but those who have worked closely here with Hutchings for the past three years have confirmed it. Hutching himself has been unavailable for comment.

The post itself has been changed to signal the new direction of the financially hard-pressed lack Power organization.

Hutchings will be "program coordinator," not "chairman," a post which has been abolished.

Brown, who served as chairman since May 1967, reportedly did not seek re-election. He was recently sentenced to five years in prison on a federal firearms charge. The sentence is under appeal.

That Hutchings' name is unfamiliar is not surprising.

He has worked quietly in Newark on the sort of grassroots organizing that was SNCC's primary activity before Carmichael ootk over two years ago.

Hutchings came to Newark three years ago following a brief stint as a NSCC field worker in Georgia and Tennessee. He had previously dropped out of Howard University where he was a classmate of Carmichael.

His initial work in Newark was with SNCC's white counterpart on the New Left, Students for a Democratic Society and its founder, Tom Hayden. Then he became the head SNCC field worker in Newark.

Hutchings appears to depart from Brown and Carmichael on the question of working with whites. Since Brown and Carmichael took over, no whites have held staff organizing positions with SNCC.

Only uncaptured Confederate capital east of the Mississippi River was Tallahasee, Fla.

Official Says He Has 'Idea' About Skulls

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—The great skull mystery of Pinch Run Township remained just that today altnough Prosecutor John J. Malik says he has an idea about how the bizarre incident originated.

"I have a theory, but I don't want to speculate on it," Malik reported.

Malik, who declined further comment about how seven human skulls found their way into an abandoned Belmont County trash dump, said he doesn't believe the mystery "necessarily involves violence."

The skulls, some with skin, hair and teeth, were found Wednesday on the farm of Jim Cummins in the southeastern Ohio hill country near Bellaire.

They were found in what used to be Bellaire's city dump and the site is still used by some who dispose of trash illegally.

Although Malik declined to comment further on the discovery, he expressed confidence that the mystery will be solved.

"I think we will find out," Malik reported.

"We looked all over the place and couldn't find any more," Malik reported.

"We don't want to find any more," he added.

Authorities had planned to send the skulls to Columbus Thursday where they could be examined by Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of the Ohio Historical Society.

There was a delay, however, and Malik said sheriff's deputies planned to take the skulls to Dr. Baby today.

The first written, constitution in America was "The Fundamental Orders of Connecticut," formulated in 1639.

Ohio Man Kills Wife, Another Woman, Himself

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — "Come on in Tom, I won't shoot you," said 65-year-old Garnett Williams, who was approached by two policemen in the driveway of his home here Thursday night.

Williams, according to patrolmen Tom and Randall Newsom, who are brothers, then walked into the one-story frame house.

The policemen heard a shot, ran into the house and found Williams, a retired truck driver and concrete worker, his wife, Sue, and another woman lying on the floor, all dead from gunshot wounds.

A .38 caliber revolver lay near Williams' body.

Police Chief James McKee said Williams, who had been in ill health, apparently shot his 58-year-old wife and Mrs. Eva Stafford, 58, Springfield, before turning the gun on himself.

Man Facing Fraud Count Kills Himself

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bachelor banker facing a warrant charging him with embezzlement of more than $100,000 apparently shot and killed himself along a busy highway near suburban Worthington.

The body of Royce Huegely, 38, manager of the Tremont-Fishinger branch here of the Ohio National Bank, was found by police and the FBI along Interstate 270 north of Worthington Thursday night.

Huegely suffered a bullet wound in the chest and another under his chin, Evans reported.

Huegely, an 18-year employe of Ohio National, had left a note in the branch's night depository box admitting the embezzlement, police reported. The note, addressed to bank officials, was found early Wednesday morning.

Huegely had taken Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday off.

A station wagon spotted by a highway patrolman near Worthington early Wednesday turned out to be Huegely's, police said.

After tracking down its ownership through the license registration, police and the FBI went to the scene and found the body in weeds about eight feet off the highway.

A warrant had been issued by the FBI on Wednesday charging Huegely with embezzlement of more than $100,000 from the bank over a period of seven years, police reported.

The flag is flown throughout the night over the Senate building if that group recesses but does not adjourn at the end of the day's business.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Water Saves Stove Well

DEAR FOLKS: This is for those who have electric kitchen stoves with a "deep well" on the back.

Heloise

To keep from burning up the pot that sits down in the well, keep it partly filled with water at all times.

Sometimes when we are in a hurry, we accidentaly turn on the back burner instead of the front one.

Take it from me, the bottom of that pot sitting in that deep well gets hot mighty fast. If you don't smell it or notice that the front burner is not getting hot like you wanted, you will soon have a pot with the bottom melted out.

This is also likely to happen if you have house guests who go in to heat some water for tea or coffee and are not familiar with an electric stove.

Keeping water in that deep well pot doesn't hurt anything and you can change it every now and then.

I also keep three marbles in mine! They make a noise when the water starts to boil.
HELOISE.

P.S. And if your pot is aluminum and has turned dark, it can be cleaned beautifully with no effort by boiling two tablespoons of cream of tartar in the pot of water for 45 minutes or so. Looks almost new again.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: After I finish cleaning a room and it's so nice and fresh, I feel like I have really done something. But why doesn't it sparkle like on TV?

I wish they would send me their helpers . . . . ALSO the mops, feather dusters, sponges etc. They do it with such ease . . .
JEANE R.

DEAR HELOISE: My large, braided wool rug had become quite worn and frayed around the edges, otherwise it had the potential for a great deal more wear.

Then I hit on the idea of ripping all of the outer braid off. This made the rug a little smaller, but what a nice smooth edge it had!
MRS. FRED OSBORNE.

DEAR HELOISE: As a male admirer of your column, I couldn't help but put in my two-cents worth on using those opaque plastic meat trays.

I used them to cover the old ceiling in our den!

If you doubt this, just lay a dozen or so on the floor and take a look. The kind I used have an embossed design that really makes our ceiling a conversation piece, besides making it pretty soundproof.

I used an adhesive that would allow some slip so that the trays could be put together tight. (They could be tacked or heavy-stapled.) I left them as is, but they can be dipped in a thin latex paint for any desired tint.
HUGH BERRY.

Now how about that!

As we are still receiving hints on uses for these trays, thought you'd all like to have more ideas on how other ingenious folk are putting theirs to use.

Many are making plaques by pasting a picture in the bottom of the tray and either using a buttonhole stitch with colored yarn around the edge, or a hole-punch with ribbon threaded through it for an interesting frame.

Foil covered, they make dandy hot plates. Great, too, for dredging meat, fish, eggplant and tomatoes. As picnic plates, coasters and under paint cans and brushes. Also, as corn-on-the-cob trays and rests for cleanser cans and steel wool pads that usually leave rust marks. And in sick rooms for medicine bottles and thermometers.

All ideas were excellent and it's especially great to know that these versatile little trays that we get for FREE are not being discarded.

Thanks to all you pals who took the time to write to HELOISE.

Chief Justice For 15 Years

Warren Reported Leaving Post On Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren is leaving the Supreme Court which he has headed during 15 years of controversy over the court's liberal decisions such as those on race discrimination and police powers, authoritative sources reported today.

White House officials declined to comment on today's report however, and all efforts to reach Warren were unsuccessful.

Compulsory Retirement

Warren said on his 75th birthday two years ago he thought there should be compulsory retirement for all public officials but did not specify at what age.

"I believe that the strength of our system in this country depends on the infusion of new blood into all our institutions," he explained then.

There is now no compulsory retirement for federal judges although they may step down at 70 after 10 years on the bench and receive a lifetime pension equal to their full salary. Warren's salary is $40,000 a year.

EARL WARREN
Quitting High Court.

Usual procedure for a Supreme Court justice wishing to leave his post is to notify the president of his desires. It normally would be up to the president then to announce the retirement.

Named By Ike In '53

The big Californian was named to the top post on the Supreme Court in 1953 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. At 77, he is known to have long felt it was time to step aside.

President Johnson, who expects to leave office himself when his term ends in January, will be able to name Warren's successor before he leaves. The appointment is of critical significance on a court where appointees commonly serve for decades and the relative strength of the liberal and conservative factions can be reversed by the departure of a single justice—depending on the politics of the president who

Three Youths Injured In Crash On Freeway

CITY FIREMEN James Walker, left, and Frank Shone labor at attempting to free injured Robert Means of the Y. & O. Rd. from a wrecked auto in which he was trapped for 30 minutes along the Freeway this morning. Means was in "serious" condition today at City Hospital.

Two Pinned In Wrecked '55 Hardtop

Third Boy Hurled Out Of Car Which Lands On Its Top

Three teen-age boys were injured today, two critically, when their 13-year-old car veered off the California Hollow Freeway just inside the city limits, traveled along the berm for nearly a half-mile and came to a halt on its top, smashed into twisted junk that trapped two of the victims.

Police, still investigating the spectacular crash, identified the injured as:

Robert Means, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd., owner of the 1955 model two-door hardtop. He is in "guarded" condition. The full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

Jerry Lyle, 16, of 728 Oak St., in "poor" condition with compound fractures of the legs.

Ricky W. Jolly, 16, also of the Y. & O. Rd. He also is in "guarded" condition, but there was no definite report on his injuries.

—:—

ONE OF the boys was hurled clear and onto the highway and the other two were trapped in the auto. Means was pinned in the hulk for nearly a half-hour with a metal rod penetrating one leg. Officers said it appeared the gear shift lever had impaled him.

Firemen were summoned to the scene and used heavy bolt cutters to help remove Means from the wreckage.

Officers said shortly before noon they still had not determined who was driving the auto. However, it was registered in Means' name with a 10-day tag that was issued yesterday. He was carrying registration papers which showed he bought the car yesterday.

Police said the crash occurred two-tenths of a mile inside the corporate line. The inbound car, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, went off the highway and then veered between the guardrail and the nearby hillside without striking the fence.

Police received the report of the crash shortly after 8 a. m. Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice, Det. Capt. Kenneth Mooney, Det. William A. Devon and Patrolman K. J. Montgomery hurried to the scene.

Firemen were summoned to the scene to help free the injured, including Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet, Fireman Frank Shone, and Fireman

Senate Eyes Tough Gun Control Bill

House Vote Slated Next Week On Mail Rifles, Shotguns

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to put more muscle in a bill banning mail order sales of rifles and shotguns is under way in the Senate while in the House the same measure is headed for a possible midweek vote.

"Anything short of registration and licensing will not be effective," said Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., after the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday, put off action on President Johnson's new bill for one week.

Not Strong Measure

"Not a strong gun control measure," was the way Tydings described the bill which at the same time was being approved in the House Judiciary Committee.

Joining Tydings in the move for stricter action was Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., longtime foe of sterner weapons control. Both serve on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"A tremendous gap" in the bill, said Hruska, is its failure to restrict mail order sales within a state and not just across its borders.

He told a reporter he is consulting with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chief Senate sponsor of the bill, about inserting an amendment to require buyers to file affidavits of eligibility.

Two Are Held After Chester Robbery Bid

A Chester area man was hospitalized and a Huntington, W. Va., resident jailed as the result of an attempted robbery Thursday afternoon at a Chester art pottery.

Maynard Baker of Chester RD 1 is in "satisfactory" condition at City Hospital with a laceration of the scalp suffered when he was struck over the head with a piece of pottery wielded by James Drumheller.

Baker and Columbus Ramey, 50, of 523 7th St., Huntington, were staging the attempted robbery at the time at the Barnhart Art Pottery on 1st St. and Carolina Ave. about 3:45 p.m.

Drumheller was repairing his auto at a garage owned by James Glover Jr. of Chester in an alley behind the store. The two were informed of the attempted robbery by the daughter of Mrs. Ilene Barnhart of Laurel Heights, a sales woman, who was treatened with a knife by the would be robbers.

Mrs. Barnhart told Chester police the men threatened her, demanding cash. She is a daughter-in-law of the store owner, Clyde Barnhart.

Chester police made the arrests.

Baker was charged with attemped armed robbery. Ramey is being held in Chester jail on a charge of being an accessory.

They will appear before Mayor Burton Ward, with the hearing date to be set upon Baker's release from the hospital, police said.

House Passes Measure, 268-150

Senate's Swift Approval Expected On 10% Surtax

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to President Johnson today the long-debated bill adding a 10 per cent surcharge to individual and corporation income taxes and ordering a $6 billion federal spending cut.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to swiftly approve a House-passed bill, giving President Johnson his long-sought 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Johnson has said he will sign the bill, which was in the Senate for action today, although he opposes its provision for a mandatory $6 billion cut in federal spending.

The House passed the measure Thursday night 268-150.

Its key provisions originally were adopted in the Senate 53-35 April 2 as an amendment to a House bill.

May Force Cutbacks

Johnson has said spending restrictions may force cutbacks in federal programs he considers already at rock-bottom levels.

The surcharge is retroactive for individuals to April 1 and for corporations to Jan. 1. It is scheduled to expire June 30 next year unless the new administration and Congress decide to extend it.

The increase, to go into effect 15 days after presidential approval, will apply to all individuals except those at the bottom of the scale—single persons with $1,000 or less of taxable income and couples with $2,000 or less.

The surcharge, along with other tax provisions in the bill, will bring in an estimated $15.5 billion in extra revenue to help improve the government's dismal fiscal picture in the next year.

Includes Other Provisions

The measure also includes a variety of other provisions retained by Senate-House conferees out of a wide-ranging series of riders tacked onto the legislation in the Senate.

One of the most important of these will put off for a year, to July 1, 1969, the freeze provision on federal matching for aid to families with dependent children included in the 1967 Social Security Act.

Under this provision, the federal government would have limited its aid to the same proportion of a state's children which that state had on the welfare rolls in the first three months of 1968.

Repeal Objective Of Poor

Its repeal has been an objective of the Poor People's Campaign. Leaders of the campaign have objected even more strenuously to a compulsory work provision for mothers in the 1967 law; that is not changed in the tax bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee told the House Thursday passage of the bill was essential to meet the gravest fiscal situation the United States has faced since World War II.

Mills also told some Democrats concerned about possible cuts in administration programs

Police Wield Clubs, Fire Tear Gas

77 Held In Capital Riot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's Campaign leaders, pleading for nonviolence, managed early this morning to cool off demonstrators angered by the campaign's first serious clashes with police.

Wielding clubs and firing tear gas, police Thursday night arrested 77 demonstrators during tense and angry confrontations.

Several top South Christian Leadership Conference officials, including its president, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, pleaded at a Resurrection City rally that lasted past midnight for adherence to their nonviolent philosophy.

Shouting, Shoving Contest

But none had been on hand during the two most serious incidents, a shouting, shoving contest between police and demonstrators near the Department of Agriculture, and the tear gassing of a crowd after some youngsters threw bottles and sticks at police.

"I am pleading with you to say violence is not the way," Abernathy, president of SCLC, told an after-midnight mass meeting in a Resurrection City almost under siege by helmeted, rifle-carrying police.

"This is exactly what they want, they're trying to get us out of here," said the Rev. Andrew Young, SCLC executive vice president. "All they need is a little incident like this to get a court order and slap us with a $50,000 or $100,000 fine."

After Abernathy Promise

The violence came just 24 hours after a 50,000-person Solidarity Day crowd prompted Abernathy to promise that civil disobedience would begin in earnest later this week.

The first hints of trouble came when some of an estimated 50 demonstrators at the often-attacked Department of Agriculture blocked main doorways in midafternoon.

Warned by police that such interference was against the law, they refused to budge and went limp to be hauled away by police.

Then, about 100 demonstrators started to march around the block-long building and got into a shouting shoving match with police, some of whom used their night sticks freely.

Blocked from surging into the street at the busy intersection of 14th St. and Independence Ave., they began a series of hit-and-run harrassment tactics that kept police hopping and commuters frightened.

Snarled Traffic

Moving rapidly down 14th street in a line that swelled by the minute, they would rush into the six-lane thoroughfare and sit down, thoroughly snarling traffic.

Then, as police bore down on them with nightsticks held at the ready, they would rise at a signal, rush back to the sidewalk, and repeat the maneuver at another intersection.

For almost half an hour the line of demonstrators zig-zagged rapidly back and forth, until suddenly someone did not move quickly enough to avoid slam-

Police Seek Identity Of River Victim

BULLETIN

Midland and Industry police were seeking the identification of a man, believed in his 50's or 60's, who drowned shortly before noon today after falling or jumping from the Shippingport Bridge.

Two men on a dredge boat off Phillis Island recovered the body of the man after one of them saw him enter the waters of the Ohio River.

Wilbur Joy of Nevada St., Wellsville, at work on Dredge No. 9, said he looked up to see the man "coming down" into the water.

He and Arthur Mott of New Manchester, another boat employe, took a rowboat to the site and recovered the body of the partially bald grey - haired man, who was described as thin.

Sen. Hatfield Latest Recruit

Vice President Hopefuls Moving Into Nixon Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican vice presidential hopefuls are moving into the camp of front-running GOP presidential contender Richard M. Nixon with antiwar Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon the latest recruit.

Earlier fellow freshman Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee had abandoned his "favorite son" status and lined up his state's 28-vote delegation behind Nixon.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, while not supporting Nixon directly, recently dropped his Illinois favorite son status opening the way for much of the state's big 58-vote delegation to back the former vice president.

Hatfield, Baker and Percy are all considered possible running mates if Nixon holds his present lead over New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and captures the GOP nomination at Miami Beach in August.

Similarly, Govs. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland and John A. Volpe of Massachusetts have received indications from the Nixon forces they are prime vice presidential material and are leaning more and more toward Nixon.

And Texas Sen. John G. Tower, also considered in the running, has been praising Nixon's stand on various issues while keeping neutral as the favorite son head of his state's delegation.

Although Hatfield delivered the nominating speech for Nixon in 1960, some reporters at his news conference Thursday indicated surprise at his endorsement of the former vice president, a firm defender of the U.S. stand in Vietnam.

But the Oregon Republican said that, while he does not consider Nixon a dove, "I believe he is the man who can lead us out of Vietnam."

Keep Paris Talks Open And Moving

The so-called peace talks in Paris are causing more irritation among the American citizenry as each day drags on without noticeable accomplishment.

Apparently realizing their impotence when it comes to getting their job done, the opposing sides have agreed to hold their regular meetings only once a week. Special sessions can be called if there seems to be cause.

Once-a-week meetings while the war goes on and guilds up 24 hours a day.

In these United States, labor-management talks often go on into the small hours of the night as negotiators try to hammer out accords. But in these cases there is a desire on the part of both sides to reach a settlement.

The off-and-on, unhurried pace of the peace talks in Paris give the clear impression that at least one party is not seriously interested in achieving peace at this time.

Now there seems to be a gradual move toward more secret talks, something American officials have been pressing for.

Most Americans place little credence in anything the propaganda-minded North Vietnamese say, preferring to watch their actions. And with the still existing credibility gap in this country, U.S. citizens would prefer to have the talks reported openly so they can more reasonably believe what has transpired.

With the talks cloaked in secrecy, the suspicion of a sellout rises to haunt us. Mindful of past experiences verging on a sellout, we are loathe to see the talks go under wraps.

No Market Boom

Jefferson County Sheriff Richard Wells and his staff have earned appreciation from northern areas of the county and southern Columbiana County for pre-Fourth of July crackdowns on illegal sales of fireworks.

It is difficult to understand why people are willing to seek profit from the distribution of fireworks which in the hands of the careless or unknowing can burn, blind and maim.

But they do, and it is the proper responsibility of law enforcement officers to insure that they don't. District residents look hopefully to continued efforts to keep the fireworks market from "booming."

Another 'Nyet' From Russia

It's "Nyet" again from Moscow.

The Soviet Union once more has said "no" to an appeal by President Johnson for co-operation in seeking global peace.

One thing you can say for the Soviets: it's not "perhaps," it's not "maybe" or "possibly.' Usually it is a direct "No,' infrequently a "yes.

THIS TIME the Communists rebuffed the President's suggestion that relations between the two countries are improving. They even chided him somewhat for daring to suggest it.

Izvestia, the government newspaper, said relations between the United States and the Soviet Union actually are "frozen" and will continue to be at least until the Vietnam War is settled.

A political commentator writing in the Russian newspaper accused the President of painting and excessively "rosy picture" of relations between the two nations. He charged that a picture of harmonious relations was being created to satisfy critics of the American foreign policy, particularly those who oppose the war in Vietnam.

The President has spoken optimistically of negotiations for a new cultural exchange pact. Izvestia, on the other hand, said exchanges with the United States in the fields of science, culture, technology and trade have to a large extent, been frozen.

TIME AND AGAIN the article hit at the reason for this as being the United States' responsibility for the war in Vietnam.

According to the government mouthpiece, when the United States abandons the use of armed force toward other nations, then the Soviet Union will be willing to develop "normal and businesslike relations."

Translated, that means when the United States steps aside and lets the Communists pursue their Red imperialism throughout the world — essentially unopposel.

Berlin Curtain Drops Again

As extradition wheels grind slowly toward transporting James Earl Ray to the United States to stand trial in the assassination of Martin Luther King there is time to reflect favorably on the joint effort that led to his arrest.

Authorities in Canada, Portugal and England co-operated with the United States in tracking down the suspect and are continuing to co-operate by tracing all sorts of leads in trying to piece together the whole story.

THE WORLD is a big place when a man is trying to hide. The fact the suspect has remained free since the assassination April 4 and was able to get into three other countries proves a man can lose himslf — at least for a time.

Without international assistance in the form of diligent work by law enforcement agencies in individual countries, many criminals would not be brought to justice.

The process may be lengthy and exasperating, but eventually Ray will be released to U.S. authorities for trial.

SOME WILL FOLLOW the case with great interest without realizing the tremendous amount of time and energy spent inside and outside this country in chasing wild leads and checking facts that finally resulted in success.

There are other instances of cooperation between the United States and foreign nations in the fight against crime, but only when one is a "big" case is much heard of it.

The force of nations of the world working in concert against criminals is a powerful positive influence in the over-all picture of justice and should be a source of pride for citizens of the countries supporting the teamwork effort.

RAYMOND MOLEY

International Teamwork

Custom has decreed in these softer ages that changes of government should not be attained by armed might, but by exchanges of words that move men's minds and hearts. The method used by William the Conqueror to win the throne of England is not practiced so much now except in some remote and benighted countries.

In a word made popular by President Kennedy but which was lifted from a speech by Adlai Stevenson, political "dialog" must, if effective, be sprinkled with easily remembered and striking arrangements of words.

Such phrases and slogans may be the means of favorably identifying the one who uses them or they may be used as weapons to attack the opponent or the opposition. These arrangements of words may not spell out the truth nor need they be original. But they must seem at the moment to be inspired and new.

THE ARDENT FAITH of politicians in the power of words is shown by the vast sums they are willing to pay for such confections. At the moment, Nelson Rockefeller is spending millions on wordy discourse in print and over the air to win the Republican nomination.

These battalions of words are not designed directly to convince GOP delegates that they should abandon Richard Nixon. They are aimed at the general public and thus to affect the polls, and through polls change delegates' minds.

Among the many political books with which publishers are flooding the market — most of which are like houseflies and may only live out the summer — one of them deserves to live beyond November and be an authoritative reference in years to come.

It's title is "The Language of Politics" and its author, William Safire, has been in and around politics quite a bit himself.

Credit for the idea has been generally given to John F. Kennedy, who made it a major proposal in his campaign for president and, after he attained office, obtained its authorization from Congress in 1963.

But Safire points out in his book that this concept had been sponsored by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the rival of both Kennedy brothers, well before Mr. Kennedy used it in his campaign speeches.

For some years before 1960, Humphrey had been calling for the recreation of Civilian Conservation Corps which was launched in the 1930s by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Finally a friend of Humphrey, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, after a visit to Cambodia in 1957, proposed that there be a study of the idea of the Peace Corps.

The House authorized the study but Humphrey went beyond a mere study. He proposed the creation of a Peace Corps in a bill submitted to the Senate in June, 1960, which was before Mr. Kennedy had been nominated.

KENNEDY'S TWO BIOGRAPHERS differ about the origin of the Peace Corps. Arthur Schlesinger says it came from Humphrey but Theodore Sorensen finds it among the Mormons. And Gen. James Gavin adds to the confusion by saying that he heard it from a committee of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

This is an excellent example of the mixed paternity of an idea and of the arrangements of words used to define it. There are hundreds of other examples in the Safire book.

The lesson must be that while phrase-making is a powerful factor in the business of politics, the history of most famous slogans reveals a long series of plagiarisms. There is really nothing new in politics except the names and the dates.

'Mirror, Mirror On The Wall–Get Lost!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Cosa Nostra Escapes Probe

WASHINGTON — All right, let's talk about guns. Let's show some guts before they get spilled around the country.

The Cosa Nostra—which President Johnson's commission on violence won't study—has thousands of arms cached in the megalopolises. on Southwest ranches, under luxurious motels, in suburban basements and within "the old neighborhoods."

Victor Riesel

Yet the violence commission, whose members have not heard a .38 go off in anger, is going to give all this a philosophical approach.

Well, can they get philosophical about fun pilfering on the waterfronts and arms thefts by the truckload?

Just about a year ago, for example, the hoods "hijacked" a shipment of 100 32-caliber pistols. The trucker was the brother of a "new" generation of men alleged by the authorities to be in the Mafia. Both brothers are "labor consultants" and "trouble shooters" for a big truck mens association, serving New York City airports and piers.

The guns were stolen while in transport from John F. Kennedy airport to a consignee in Manhattan. Last December, one of these pistols was found on Joe Saccomanno in Yonkers, N.Y. The gun toter is an associate of these very same labor consultants, one of whom was charged by the New York State Investigation Commission with being among the Cosa Nostra's most promising lads. You do as they tell you or they promise you a hit in the head—or worse.

IT'S ALL THERE in the record of the valiant New York crime commission probers.

They can tell the President, without waiting a year for the new commission to do a tour of the universities, whether there is violence in America—and why!

Some of it springs from the Cosa Nostra's invasion of such unions as the Laborers' International Union locals. Men are threatened by anonymous growling midnight telephone callers.

In other unions, where a Mafia hood turns up to loot pension and welfare funds men are beaten in basements.

There are waves of bombings and assaults all the way from New York to Chicago and down to Miami. Probe after probe is launched in New York, in Florida, in Philadelphia, in Detroit, and then dies amid old news clippings.

It is as Governor George Romney has just said: It was not 200 million people who pulled the trigger which killed Bob Kennedy, but it is the very same people who tolerate an atmosphere of violence in which killer triggermen spurt bullets.

The mob flourishes everywhere. Names of its leaders, at work or play, are known in every city. So are their connections in and out of the labor movement.

So powerful are these hoods, they terrorize even national union chiefs who try to police their thousands of local unions.

If the mob did not have friendly Congressmen, judges and local law enforcement men to turn off the heat, the hoods and their arsenals could be picked up in one week.

BUT THEN EVERYBODY would hear horrified outcries in defense of the mob's civil liberties.

Just look at the record of violence. Just two, perhaps three, of the 1,000 criminal executions in and around Chicago have been solved.

Violence may not be individual, but it is indivisible. For every life the mobs rubs out, the cost to the public runs in the tens of millions—higher construction costs for world's fairs, schools, hospitals, city halls and highways.

This is a terror tax. Yet there is no central headquarters for such information.

Why not, especially at this time? The mob has a multi-billion dollar stake in gambling, numbers, loansharking, narcotics and job-controlling fake unions in the nation's ghettos.

The mob runs unions and tells local leaders to brush off those knocking on the doors with pleas for admittance of the hard core unemployed.

The mob doesn't want the Negroes and other minorities because the hoods want the kind of union members whom they can put on ghost payrolls, and whom they can direct to their own loansharks, and whom they can tell which rooming houses to live in, which clubs and bowling alleys to play in, which grocery stores to buy in, and which bookies to sue.

IF THE UNION MEMBERS don't take such orders, they just don't keep their jobs. Newly hired hard core black workers would become an icky problem to the underworld.

So all this does lead hack to violence. Yet we hear from White House aides that the President's commission will take a philosophical approach. It will be a series of sociological sit-ins.

They'll go into the reasons and possible cure of violence. They'll turn in another voluminous report. And they'll go home. That's nice too.

Maybe then we can get the public to pay some attention to crusading crime probers who have been sweating it out for years.

They know where the guns are. And they know who uses them. And why. The point now is how to prevent it—on all fronts. And no sacred cows, please. Violence is indivisible.

Adultery Ruling

The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered a decision that appears to make adultery profitable and seems to disregard laws designed to discourage immorality.

By a unanimous decision, the high court takes the position that aid to dependent children may not be denied to a mother who indulges in illicit sexual relations with a "man in the house" who is not the father of the children.

There may not always be governmental prosecution if the man or the woman benefits from the money and the care of the children is neglected.

This surprising opinion by the judges certainly was not intended to condone adultery.

BUT TOO OFTEN the high court justices become immersed in technicalities and forget that the highest principles of morality ever written were contained in the Ten Commandments and in the Sermon on the Mount as well as in the doctrines of several religions of Asia founded 10,000 years before Christ was born.

Today, however, it has become more of a legal question, and morality has become secondary.

The issue is a simple one. The state of Alabama has a law which contains a "substitute father" regulation that — under the federal program of aid to families of dependent children—denies financial assistance to a mother who "cohabits" inside or outside her home with any able-bodied man, single or married.

The Supreme Court unanimously held the Alabama law to be invalid because it is inconsistent with the federal Social Security Act. Eighteen other states and the District of Columbia have laws similar to Alabama's, and they now are presumably invalid also.

The new ruling concerns a problem which is by no means of minor importance. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates that there may be between 50,000 and 100,000 families affected, and that between 200,000 and 400,000 persons not at present eligible might become recipients of aid because of this week's decision.

The vast amount of money involved could become available to "substitute fathers" who may enjoy "The Great Society" without any legal requirement that the money be spent for the children fro whom the taxpayers are providing assistance.

A DEPENDENT CHILD is defined under the Social Security Act as a "needy child . . . who has been deprived of parental support or care by reason of the death, continued absence from the home, or physical or mental incapacity of a parent."

The state of Alabama contended that a woman having sexual relations with a man not her husband is actually providing her children with a "substitute parent." Alabama also argued that there was a reasonable basis for the regulation because its purpose was to discourage illicit sexual relationship and illegitimacy.

The Supreme Court did not base its decision on constitutional grounds. It merely held that the Alabama regulation was inconsistent with the language of the federal law—a ruling not unusual in these days of dedication to technicalities rather than to moral principles.

The chief justice, who wrote the opinion for the unanimous court, said: "It is simply inconceivable . . . that Alabama is free to discourage immorality and illegitimacy by the device of absolute disqualification of needy children." He added that "We believe Congress intended the term 'parent' . . . to include only those persons with a legal duty of support."

The suit was brought by Mrs. Sylvester Smith of Selma, Ala., against the state of Alabama. She has four minor children.

They were removed in 1966 from the list of persons eligible to receive aid to dependent children, on the ground that a Mr. Williams came to her home on weekends and had sexual relations with her. Mrs. Smith earns between $16 and $20 per week as a cook and waitress.

THE ALLEGED "substitute father," Mr. Williams, has nine children of his own and lives with his wife and family. He is not the father of any of Mrs. Smith's children.

States and cities have welfare departments. It is illogical that the granting of federal funds should have become involved in the enrichment of 'substitute fathers," while the poor children suffer the tragedy of being reared under circumstances that can hardly contribute to their future well being.

The whole thing has gotten tangled up, however, in the technicalities of the Supreme Court, which seems much more interested nowadays in the equivocal phrases of law than in adherence to accepted principles of human behavior.

Advocates Anti-Missile System

Clifford Reveals Views Differ From McNamara's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford has revealed for the first time a significant difference in views from his predecessor, Robert S. McNamara.

The dispute came to light Tuesday when Clifford told a news conference that the United States should push ahead with development of the Sentinel antimissile system, something opposed by McNamara when he was secretary of defense.

The $5 billion Sentinel program, the so-called "thin missile" system, is designed to protect the United States from the relatively small-scale Red Chinese nuclear attack, thought possible by the mid-1970s.

"I believe we should have a defense against the Chinese system other than just a massive retaliatory attack," Clifford said in opposing current moves in Congress to cut funds for the Sentinel program.

McNamara's position was that the United States should concentrate on building the strength of its offensive missile program to the point where neither China nor the Soviet Union would dare attack.

He argued that there were only "marginal grounds" for concluding that a relatively light antimissile system would be effective.

When McNamara finally gave his authorization to the program last September it was with evident lack of enthusiasm and after President Johnson reportedly forced the issue.

There are grounds to believe that Clifford, then as now a close advisor to Johnson, threw decisive weight with the President in behalf of the go ahead.

However, Clifford, who succeeded McNamara March 1, appeared to agree with the former secretary in his opposition to a more complex and heavier antimissile system designed to protect against Soviet attack.

McNamara had said such a system would cost up to $40 billion and still would be relatively ineffective in saving American lives.

Clifford said Thursday that "I am informed by our experts that there is no known defense at this time to a massive attack from the Soviet Union."

But he departed from McNamara in another respect; that U.S. installation of an antimissile system might trigger another round in the nuclear arms race.

He said he hoped the Russians had realized "the time has come for us both to . . . act reasonably" and agree on nuclear arms limitation.

But, Clifford said, the United States cannot let the Soviet Union think it is stronger than America.

In Rivalry For Presidential Bid

Nixon Uses Soft Answers In Tiff With Rockefeller

By The Associated Press

Richard M. Nixon is using the soft answer technique to parry Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's demands for more head-to-head fighting in their rivalry for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller said Thursday in Cleveland he wants Nixon and him to be judged side by side, trading charges and countercharges, challenges and rebuttals.

The New York governor said he wants to "sharpen the differences between us, if he gives me the chance."

Nixon shows little interest in offering Rockefeller such opportunities. Political observers rank Nixon as the front-runner in the race, Rockefeller as the one who has to come from behind.

"As far as Gov. Rockefeller is concerned," Nixon told newsmen in Chicago, "he can continue his attacks. I will not retaliate in kind."

As part of his campaign to draw Nixon into returning fire, Rockefeller began criticizing him by name for the first time Thursday. He suggested the former vice president, on the basis of his losing try for the presidency in 1960, has shown he can't win the city vote.

"Dick did well in Missouri until he got into St. Louis," Rockefeller told the GOP meeting in Cleveland. "He did well in Pennsylvania until he got into Philadelphia. He did well in Michigan until he got into Detroit. And he did well in New York until he got into New York City."

Nixon said he is sticking to his position of refusing to debate Rockefeller.

"The only real winner of a Nixon-Rockefeller debate, particularly the kind of debate that seems to be developing, would be Hubert Humphrey," he said.

Vice President Humphrey, appearing at the National Press Club Thursday, said national club priorities need to be re-examined—changed if necessary.

"It must be clear that violence, crime, looting, burning cannot be condoned and must be stopped," he said. "It must be equally clear that the conditions that breed crime and violence have to be sought out—and then rooted out."

ANN LANDERS

Child Outsmarts Father

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 5-year-old daughter is ruining our marriage. This may sound absurd, but it is true.

Two months ago Francine called for her daddy in the middle of the night. She said she was having bad dreams and wanted her daddy near so nobody could hurt her. We took her into our bed and she quieted down and went right to sleep.

For the past three weeks Francine has pulled this bad dream routine every night. I'm exhausted and a nervous wreck. I cannot sleep with the child between us. I've told my husband Francine might have had a bad dream once or twice, but now she's using it as an excuse to get into our bed.

He accuses me of being jealous of my own daughter. The two of us have been at each other's throats continually.

In the meantime, Francine is aware she is causing trouble and is enjoying it immensely. Please give me some advice. — ASUNDERED.

Dear Asundered: The female competition in your family is terrific. Francine enjoys being in the middle in more ways than one.

Your husband should wise up and not allow this miniseductress to come between him and his wife.

Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems of children. Ask him to explain Francine's racket to her daddy. He needs educating. The 5-year-old has outsmarted him.

Second Fling

Dear Ann: My sister's husband died three years ago. Sally went into a depression and the doctor suggested she go to work and get her mind off herself. (She has no children.)

At work, Sally met a married man whose wife is in a mental hospital. They fell madly in love, which makes no sense for a woman 43 yars old.

Sally is ruining the family name because of her shameless behavior. She goes everywhere with this man, even to church. I love my sister and I want her to have a respectable life. I've talked to her until I'm blue in the face but she tells me she cannot give him up and he needs her as much as she needs him.

Shall I go to the man and tell him he is married and to leave my sister alone?—INTERESTED YVONNE.

Dear Yvonne: It is not necessary for you to go to the man and tell him he is married. He knows it.

Your signature raises some questions in my mind Why are you so "Interested"? Granted, this affair is out of bounds and your sister may well regret it, but it's her decision to make, not yours. M.Y.O.B.

Nearly 5 Months After Seizure

Pueblo, Crew Becoming Political Campaign Issue

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly five months after the North Korean seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its men, the incident is becoming something of a campaign issue.

A Republican party document lists the Pueblo affair as the most dramatic illustration of its charge that America's might has weakened and its prestige abroad crumpled under Democratic leadership.

A fledgling Remember the Pueblo Committee is trying to drum up support among Republicans and candidates for its call to use force if necessary to free the ship and its imprisoned crew.

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford says patient negotiations, not precipitate action, will ultimately win back the vessel and its 82 surviving crewmen.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, running for the nation, has seen "some indication" the North Koreans may release the captives but has not gotten into specifics.

According to the U.S. version this is what happened in the crisis-provoking incident of Jan. 23:

The 906-ton Pueblo, a World War II Army cargo ship recently recommissioned with the latest electronic eavesdropping gear, was patrolling 17 miles off North Korea's Wonsan harbor at midday when a North Korean sub chaser showed up.

The gunboat signaled "Heave to or I will open fire."

The Pueblo's reply: "I am in international waters".

An hour later three more North Korean naval vessels joined the sub chaser. With MIG jet fighters zooming overhead, the sub chaser then backed toward the Pueblo and an armed boarding party went aboard the American ship.

The Pueblo was armed only with 50-caliber machine guns and had been under instructions to keep her weapons covered. The captain, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher and his men did not engage in a naval battle, but there was apparently some fighting during the boarding.

Before Pueblo's radio went silent, it reported several men were wounded. The crew destroyed all the secret equipment they could.

Fireman Duane D. Hodges of the takeover of the ship, died. All other members of the ship's company are believed alive.

Friendly forces were not near, ready or strong enough to save the Pueblo in the brief time available after receiving the ship's SOS, Washington says.

After fruitless efforts through the United Nations, the Soviets and other diplomatic channels, to win return of the ship and crew, the U.S. government focused on direct talks with the North Koreans at Panmunjom, the Korean War Truce site.

The Panmunjom sessions—17 of them have been held to date, counting the latest on May 28—have been a standoff so far.

The Communists claim the Pueblo was engaged in criminal spying as close as 7.6 miles off the North Korean coastline. They say their territorial waters extend 12 miles off shore.

The U.S. negotiators have steadfastly denied the Red charges. They say the Pueblo was in international waters well outside even the 12-mile limit.

MORE

There has been no North Korean response to the latest U.S. proposals. Washington sources said the North Koreans have rebuffed one alternative, a U.S. offer to let an impartial body investigate the incident while a neutral country holds the prisoners.

While the talks drag on the North Koreans have moved the ship from Wonsan. It is now reported to be further north, probably at Chongjin, about 180 miles further up the North Korean coast toward the Soviet border.

South Africa Set To Resume Shipments Of Gold Abroad

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Finance Minister Nicolaas Diederichs announced today that South Africa will resume gold shipments abroad.

He said in a press statement the government has agreed to make available 19 million in gold to the International Monetary Fund for France, and $23 million tot he fund for Britain, resulting in a fall in South African gold reserves held outside the country. The reserves will have to be replenished through resumed gold shipments, the minister said.

Diederichs gave no indication how or when his government would resume overseas selling of its newly mined gold, about 75 per cent of the non-Communist world's output.

South Africa "reserved its right" to act after announcement of the two-tier price system for gold. Diederichs and Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster criticized the two-tier system as a temporary gimmick and appealed for an increase in the official pegged price of $35 an ounce as the only realistic solution to international monetary problems.

South Africa's gold and foreign exchange reserves are at a record high, and it has no immediate need to sell gold for foreign exchange. But gold comprises 35 per cent of the value of South African exports normally and cannot be stockpiled forever.

Man Convicted Of Kidnaping, Gets 5-30 Years

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Charles Chasteen of Franklin was convicted Thursday on a charge of kidnaping Adams County Commissioner Forrest Mason recently.

An Adams County jury handed down the guilty verdict and Judge James Lang Jr. sentenced Chasteen to 5-30 years in the pneitentiary.

Chasteen 23, was also charged with robbing Mason but did not have a jury trial on that charge. He changed a plea of not guilty to guilty on the robbery charge and was sentenced to 10 - 25 years.

Chasteen said during the trial that he joined two others in forcing Mason into a car at gun point and then robbing him, because he was afraid of one of his companions. He referred to Walter Brogan, 25, Lathem, who was killed later in the night of the robbery when he exchanged gunfire with a Hillsboro patrolman.

14 Arrested, Heroin Confiscated In Raid

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police and federal agents staged a narcotics raid Thursday night on an East Side apartment, arresting 14 persons and confiscating $45,000 worth of heroin. Six other persons fled.

Lt. Burt Miller, head of the police narcotics unit, said 12 men and two women were nabbed.

Those arrested were booked for investigation for possession of narcotics.

The Federal Bureau of Narcotics said the apartment, alleged to be a distribution center for heroin and marijuana, is one of three places in Cleveland that has been under surveillance for several months.

Gun Deaths In U.S. 109 Since Sunday

By The Associated Press

Guns have killed 109 persons in the United States since midnight Sunday, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Homicides accounted for 57 deaths, suicides for 42 and accidental shootings 10.

The FBI has reported that approximately 6,500 persons were killed by guns in 1966 — an average of 125 homicides by firearms each week. Homocides by stabbing, strangling and other means totaled 10,920 in 1966, the FBI said.

The count of gun deaths in Ohio include Royce Huegely, 38, manager of a Columbus branch bank, who died of two rifle shots. Police said Huegely left a note in the bank's night depository admitting embezzlement of bank funds over a seven-year period. Suicide was the coroner's verdict.

Raymond Odom, 19, was approached by five or six youths along a street on Chicago's South Side Thursday night. One of the youths pulled a shotgun, fired and killed Odom, police said. There was no apparent motive, officers said.

Demands for gun-control legislation arose on the national, state and local levels after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and were renewed after the fatal shooting of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy earlier this month brought still more urgent demands for such controls.

The Associaed Press is makig a one-week survey of gunshot deaths, from midnight Sunday, June 16, until midnight Sunday, June 23.

Warren

chooses the man to fill the vacancy.

The Warren years on the court have been marked by unrelenting controversy. From the historic 1954 decision on school segregation up to the equally sweeping housing discrimination handed down just this past Monday, the court's actions have been headline-makers.

Dislike For Warren

Ultraconservatives, while generally outraged at the court in general, have had special dislike for Warren. For years there have been "Impeach Earl Warren" billboards in sections where anticourt sentiment runs strong.

Through it all, the man in the eye of the storm has, to all appearances, been unflappable, retaining the outgoing and unpretentious manner that stood him well in his three scandal-free terms as governor of California before he was named to the bench.

Warren was trained in law at the University of California but never sat as a judge until, at age 62, he was picked to be the nation's highest jurist. He was no stranger to courtrooms, however, having laid the foundation for his political career with seasoning as a racket-busting district attorney and attorney general.

He was the vice presidential candidate on the 1948 Republican ticket headed by Thomas E. Dewey. When the GOP lost the election in spite of virtually unanimous forecasts that it was headed for victory, Warren explained the upset this way:

"Mr. Truman just got too many votes."

One-way traffic was maintained on the freeway while the wreckage was cleared. Police said a blowout may have caused the car to go out of control. Three of the four tires on the wreckage were flattened. Officers were unable to talk with the injured to learn the details.

ming into a patrolman. There was the sharp crack of a night stick, and the man went spinning to the ground, sending droplets of blood spattering across the sidewalk.

Mood Turned Ugly

Immediately the crowd's mood turned ugly. A dinner plate sized pool of blood stained the sidewalk where the man's head had lain, and marshals shoved and pleaded with the crowd to get it to return to the Agriculture Department.

At least 20 persons were arrested there before order was restored. The crowd, now grown to about 500, police said, listened to the Rev. Jesse Jackson tell them momentary anger over a few drops of blood was not as important as attaining justice for the "rivers of blood" spilled by Negro martyrs over the years.

But as the cooled-off marchers reached the back gates of Resurrection City, some youngsters began to throw sticks and bottles aimed at police, who finally fired at least 15 cannisters of tear gas to restore order.

SCLC officials, who had not returned with the march after helping it calm down at the Agriculture Department, immediately rushed back, and managed before midnight to bring quiet and calm within the camp.

Outside, however, tension remained high. The city called out at least one-quarter of its riot control unit, arming the 36 men with rifles and tear gas guns, and everyone was edgy.

Odd Facts

The Verrazano - Narrows Bridge in New York contains three times the steel of the Empire State Building; its twin towers are as tall as a 70-story building; and its four cables could support the Queen Mary. Engineers predict that the bridge should last forever thanks to modern metals such as nickel alloy steels.

Nickel stainless steel is now available in a paint for industrial applications. The alloy, in flake form, has shown remarkable ability to fight corrosion when applied to outdoor utility installations and has reduced maintenance costs by as much as 30 per cent.

The nited States was the world's largest consumer of nickel in 1967, using an estimated 352 million pounds. Total free world consumption during the year was estimated at 825 million pounds.

Hruska said he also may offer an amendment to double the maximum penalties provided in the bill to 10 years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The House Judiciary Committee approved the administration bill 29-6 after the adoption of relatively minor amendments. Southern Democrats cast all the opposing votes.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said he hoped to have the bill ready for House action by the middle of next week.

Senate Judiciary action was postponed to next Thursday at Dodd's request, chiefly because several members were absent.

Under the administration bill, buyers of shoulder weapons would have to make their purchases in the state where they live. Not only would interstate mail order sales be banned, but dealers would be prohibited from selling over the counter to persons from another state.

Crime control legislation signed by Johnson Wednesday night provides for these restrictions on handguns.

that it would not be necessary to take any of the $6 billion out of welfare, education, health or urban affairs projects.

On the same day, however, the House Appropriations Committee, in acting on a bill for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments, slashed $300 million from Johnson's request for the antipoverty program and $200 million from elementary and secondary education outlays.

The spending controls sections in the tax bill provides that the President must make cuts to reach the $6 billion total to the extent that Congress itself does not achieve this in acting on appropriations bills.

The number of jobholders now is 244,000 above this figure. The bill requires that these 244,000 be eliminated by not filling one out of each four vacancies that occurs.

Another of these provisions requires a $10 billion reduction in appropriations for the upcoming fiscal year. This overlaps with the cuts made necessary by the $6-billion spending reduction.

The measure also directs the President to report to Congress next January as to how $8 billion of prior, unused appropriations, can be rescinded.

Other provisions in the bill:

Extend until 1970 the present 10 per cent and 7 per cent respective rates on telephone and auto excise taxes, then provide for phasing them out so they would end in 1973.

Provide for a speedup in income tax payments by smaller corporations so that eventually they would be on a current basis.

Permit jobless fathers to receive both unemployment compensation and AFDC welfare checks in the same week.

James Miller, 19, of Echo Dr. paid a fine of $15 and costs on a charge of driving 60 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol on the Wellsville Rd. June 14 at 10:30 p. m.

Two cited by local officers drew fines of $10 and costs each. Joseph B. Troski, 56, of 812 Daniel St. Toronto, arrested Sunday on W. 8th St. on a charge of driving 46 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, forfeited a $17.50 bond. Jack M. White of Lemon St., cited Wednesday on St. Clair Ave. on a charge of driving 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, forfeited $18.50.

Anderson M. Coe, 72, of 1219 Canton St., whose auto was involved in a collision with a fire truck Tuesday afternoon at St. Clair and McKinnon Aves., was fined $25 and costs after the court convicted him on a charge of passing at the approach to the crest of a grade. Coe had pleaded not guilty. Police alleged his car collided with a pumper truck operated by Fireman Merle McShane.

Michael Glonek of 822 Avondale St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way in driving onto a thoroughfare from a side street. The charge was filed by Patrolman Dwight Garvey, who alleged that Glonek pulled off E. 4th St. onto Broadway Thursday at 9:50 p. m. and nearly collided with a cruiser Garvey was operating north on Broadway.

Misreading Radar Signals Tied To Errant Reports

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. sources indicated today that misreading of radar signals may have caused erroneous reports of enemy helicopter sightings around the demilitarized zone and triggered mistaken American attacks on allied warships in the area.

The sources said it was "highly probable" that American planes and artillery fired last weekend on allied ships, which on radar scopes appeared to be low-flying helicopters. A U.S. patrol boat was sunk and an Australian destroyer got 200 holes from American missiles.

The U.S. Command had no further comment today. A spokesman said only that an investigation is still going on and no official comment will be made until it is completed.

The reported sightings of moving aerial lights and radar traces interpreted as enemy helicopters began last Saturday and continued all week. South Vietnamese sources claimed that 12 Russian-made 'copters were shot down below the demilitarized zone by American planes or artillery. But despite intense air reconnaissance, there have been no reports of any wreckage.

All the reported activity has been at night and unconfirmable by visual observation.

The U.S. Command, apparently dubious of the helicopter reports, has ordered its fighter-bombers and artillery to hold fire in the area to avoid hitting any more allied surface vessels.

One source said that surface craft showing up on radar scopes could appear to be low-flying helicopters, especially at night.

The moving lights that were sighted were observed through telescopes which electronically increase the available light so they can be used at night. The lights appeared to be six or eight miles away, but it is difficult to determine distances through these night scopes, and helicopters reported over or south of the demilitarized zone actually could have been flying north of the zone.

On the Saigon war front, meanwhile, the U.S. Command accused the Viet Cong of another indiscriminate rocket attack during the night on the capital. Six civilians were killed and 23 wounded. Some rockets hit near two hospitals. It was the heaviest bombardment of Saigon in 10 days. The U.S. Command sent waves of Air Force B52s to pound enemy rocket storage areas and distribution points 35 miles north of Saigon. More than 20 of the big bombers dropped 500 tons of explosives.

While U.S. headquarters termed the attack indiscriminate, the enemy gunners apparently were aiming for Tan Son Nhut Air Base, which includes Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' "Pentagon East" headquarters, and the adjoining South Vietnamese military headquarters.

Four of the rockets overshot the base 150 to 600 yards and landed in civilian areas.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 129 missions Thursday against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, concentrating on trucks and supply boats. Pilots reported damaging or destroying 35 trucks and 12 supply boats and setting off 20 secondary explosions, indicating hits on ammunition and fuel.

The U.S. Command in its weekly report on American aircraft losses announced that a total of 856 American warplanes have been downed in combat over North Vietnam.

PHOTOSENSITIZATION

Q. Late last summer I experienced a severe sunburn following very brief exposure to the sun. This had never happened before. A doctor diagnosed the condition as photosensitization. Exactly what does this mean?

A. Photosensitization is the process by which body cells or tissue (in this case, the skin) become highly sensitive to light waves which would ordinarily produce little or no reaction. Various substances, including certain drugs, chemicals and plants, can induce photosensitization. Some toilet soaps contain additives which are known to cause photosensitization in some people.

SANDPAPER SURGERY

Q. As a teenager I had severe acne which left my face quite pitted. Would sandpaper surgery help?

A. Sandpaper surgery (dermabrasion or skin planing) has generally lost favor among dermatologists. One prominent skin doctor says that the procedure was doomed to failure from the start because of two factors. One, in order to plane deeply enough to remove many or most pitted scars on the face, the surgical procedure itself will produce scars. Secondly, improvement is limited and not easily recognized since some scars and pits remain.

Sports Whirled

Review Sports Editor

We're living in an era of fast changes.

Nowhere is this more apparent than in the field of local coaching positions. As was pointed out several weeks ago, there will be new football coaches at Oak Glen, Beaver Local and Wellsville this fall, as well as at Southern Local and Columbiana. Now it seems certain that Midland can be added to that list.

With the departure of Bob Starkey and Vince Monseau, Oak Glen will need new head coaches in basketball, wrestling and track, as well as football. Hancock County coaches are in a fluid situation, with the decision of the county school board to declare all posts open and to allow a man to be head coach in only one sport. Weir High's football coach, Carl Fodor, has said he will not continue in that position.

IT SEEMS certain now, however, that there will be no new football coach at East Liverpool this fall. The animosity between Bob McNea and certain teachers apparently still exists, but things seem to be stalemated for the present. McNea is not an easy person to know, and has the ability to rub a lot of people the wrong way, but on the other hand he has many supporters in East Liverpool. The teachers' charges against him, confused by a mass of verbage, stem from personality conflicts. I'm not quite sure what the legal gripe is, but I know that if the foreman of the printers at The Review went to George Shaw, the publisher, and complained that I was overpaid or that I had a soft job, he would be out of line. But if he complained that I was hard to work with, and gave the printers a lot of trouble, then he would have a legitimate gripe. It's hard to tell into which category the McNea case falls.

NOBODY, not even the teachers who filed the grievance in the case, is contemptuous of McNea's ability as a football coach. All admit that he has done a fine job here. Likewise, no one can deny that Clint McConnel has done an excellent job as basketball coach in the past two seasons, compiling the best percentage in the history of the school. East Liverpool was rated in the top 13 in the state in both basketball and football by both wire services, a record hard to match. It would be a shame to lose the services of any qualified coach through a political intra-school squabble.

Letter To The Editor

As a hunter, sportsman and life member of the National Rifle Association, and because of the contents of your column in The East Liverpool Review June 11, I feel that I must take exception to your views on the National Rifle Association and the hunter as a sportsman.

First of all, I would like to say that the lack of knowledge you have shown on the subject of hunting and the NRA was exceeded only in the ignorant manner in which you expressed your opinion. The National Rifle Association of America, founded in 1871, is an independent, non-profit organization supported by membership fees. Its purposes are to educate public-spirited citizens in the safe and efficient use of small arms for pleasure and protection; to foster firearms accuracy and safety in law-enforcement agencies, in the Armed Services and among citizens subject to military duty; and to further the public welfare and national defense.

The NRA, comprised of over 960,000 members (which makes it the largest SPORTSMEN'S organization in the world) takes the bedrock stand that law-abiding Americans are constitutionally entitled to the ownership and legal use of firearms.

Anarchy and chaos could occur in our society (with NO help from the NRA) if the lawbreakers are not punished to the fullest extent of the law instead of being returned to the public. Too many times I have read of persons being convicted to robbery, rape and even murder, serving a few years in jail and being released on parole or because of a ruling by the Supreme Court that the person might not have had a fair trial, only to commit their crimes over again. The NRA supports legislation such as the Casey Bill (H.R. 360) which imposes stiff MANDATORY penalties for the misuse of guns while committing a crime.

We believe that this will deter the criminal or would-be criminal from committing another crime, or his first crime, with a firearm in his possession. We believe that any person would think twice before committing a crime with a firearm, if he realizes he faces a mandatory 15 or 20-year prison term should he decide to do so.

As for hunting, the hunters of America have done more in the area of conservation than all of the other groups combined. It was the hunters who insisted on the making and enforcing of the game laws now in existence. I am sure that you are unaware of the hundreds and thousands of deer each year that are dying of starvation in the mountains of Pennsylvania and other states simply because not enough of them are being harvested by the hunters.

I am equally sure that you have never hunted game animals such as deer or you could not label them "defenseless." If the statements you made in your column is any indication of your intelligence, you would have been outsmarted by the animal every time.

The NRA will, in the future, as they have done in the past, support legislation aimed at keeping the criminal behind bars and away from guns, while protecting the law-abiding citizens "right to keep and bear arms" as guaranteed in the Constitution.

Still, Devlin Leading Canadian Open Golf

TORONTO (AP) — Billy Casper has the gallery at the $125,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship wondering what will happen when he stops driving for show and starts puting.

Casper, one of the deadliest men around the greens on the U.S. professional golf circuit, took 34 putts in the opening round Thursday and still wound up just two strokes behind the first-round leaders—Bruce Devlin of Australia and Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash.

Still and Devlin, who admitted they "played with a great deal of luck," carded three-under-par 67s over the 6,792-yard St. George's Golf Club layout.

Casper shot a 60 to tie with five other Americans and Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., for third place in the 72-hole tournament that carries a $25,000 first-place prize. The tourney ends Sunday.

"Those greens take a lot of playing after a miss because they're so rolly," said Casper, who is aiming for his third straight tournament victory in Canada.

Cubs Set Scoreless Mark; Pirate Streak Ended At 9

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lippy Leo Durocher is almost as silent these days as the bats his Chicago Cubs are using. Bullet Bob Gibson is letting his strong right arm do the talking.

It was just like old times for Durocher as Gibson and the St Louis Cardinals blanked Chicago 1-0 Thursday—but they're times the Cub manager would rather forget.

For the Cubs, it was their fourth straight shutout defeat, tying a major league record. And their string of 46 consecutive scoreless innings broke the National League mark of 45 set by Cincinnati in 1931 and is two short of the major league record of 48 by the 1906 Philadelphia Athletics.

For Gibson, it was his fourth shutout in a row and ran his scoreless streak to 38 innings. Don Drysdale of Los Angeles recently set all-time records of six straight shutouts and 58 2-3 scoreless innings.

Cards Win Again

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta tripped Cincinnati 3-1, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 2-1, Pittsburgh trounced Los Angeles 7-3 in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader but lost the nightcap 3-2 in 10 innings, and the New York Mets turned back Houston 5-3.

When the 1931 Cincinnati Reds went 45 innings without a run they had a good-field, no-hit shortstop named—you guessed it—Leo Durocher, who batted all of .227 that season. The Lip returned to the scene of the crime Thursday night as the Cubs flew to Cincinnati for a weekend series.

Lou Brock gave Gibson the only run he needed when he tripled with two out in the fourth off Ferguson Jenkins, 6-8, and scored on a single by Curt Flood for the Cards' 19th win in 23 games.

Milt Pappas, traded from the Reds to the Braves two weeks ago, pitched 5 2-3 innings in picking up his first victory for Atlanta, and his former Cincinnati teammates were the victims. Pappas allowed seven hits before leaving the game with a pulled side muscle.

The right-hander also contributed a key bunt single and scored the final run as the Braves broke a tie with two runs in the fifth.

A wild pitch by San Francisco's Ray Sadecki helped Philadelphia to a pair of first-inning runs and Rick Wise made them stand up by pitching a six-hitter as the Phillies nipped the Giants.

Cookie Rojas, who doubled, was on third and Richie Allen on first with an intentional pass when Sadecki uncorked his wild pitch. Rojas scored and Allen came home a few minutes later on Tony Taylor's single.

Steve Blass hurled no-hit ball for 6 2-3 innings as the Pirates won their opener from the Dodgers behind a 13-hit attack. Blass retired the first 15 batters before walking Paul Popovich. The first hit was Tom Haller's two-out double in the seventh.

But Pittsburgh's nine-game winning streak came to an end in the nightcap when pinch hitter Jim Fairey belted his first major league home run two out in the 1th inning.

Tom Seaver struck out 12 and touched off two rallies with an infield single and a lost-in-the-sun double as the Mets beat Houston. Cleon Jones drove in four runs with a third-inning sacrifce fly and a three-run homer in the fifth off Larry Dierker. Art Shamsky also homered for the Mets.

Wagner's HR Tops Tribe

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland waited hopelessly for a couple of months for Leon Wagner to hit a homer before dealing him off to Chicago for Russ Snyder a week ago.

The Indians didn't wait long enough.

Wagner's first round-tripper of the season Wednesday night ignited a six-run uprising that boosted the White Sox from behind and to an 8-4 conquest of his old mates.

Meanwhile, Denny McLain used a long-dormant pitch to baffle Boston with a dandy three-hitter and Mickey Stanley drove in four runs in propelling Detroit to a 5-1 victory and an 8½ game lead in the American League—the Tigers' biggest margin this season.

All other American League teams were idle.

"Man, that was a good feeling, having my first big day of the season, and it was the first installment on my White Sox pay check," said Wagner of the two-run shot into the right field stands.

It was the 211th of his major league career, but his first since late last summer.

A run-scoring single by Tommy Davis, Ken Berry's RBI double and a two-run double by pitcher Tommy John, who chalked up his sixth straight without a loss, capped the outburst that shoved the Indians from second to fourth place in the torrid battle for the runner-up spot.

Baltimore, Minnesota and Cleveland—all 8½ games out—are separated by only two percentage points.

McLain, first American Leaguer to win 12 games this season, relied on a "sidearm fastball" he hasn't used for years to tame the Red Sox for 6 2-3 innings before George Scott and Elston Howard came up with consecutive singles.

The 5-foot-11, 185-pounder, who has lost only twice, said he stopped using the pitch three season's ago after a pulled bicep muscle in his right arm bothered him when he threw it.

"It's no miracle pitch," said McLain, "but these guys haven't seen it for three years."

Charlie Greene Breaks World 100-Meter Mark

By RON RAPOPORT

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Charlie Greene says he and Jim Hines figure they are about the best around when it comes to running 100 meters.

There are perhaps half a dozen sprinters at the Amateur Athletic Union's Track and Field Chamionships who are pretty good themselves, but hardly have a case to argue with Greene.

All during the finals of the dash Thursday, the times were phenomenal—Hines won his heat in a wind-aided 9.8, two-tenths under the listed world mark—so much so that when they measure the track to reconfirm the distance, some skeptics expect it to come up a couple of meters short.

In their respective semifinal heats, both Greene and Hines turned in world record clockings of 9.9 and then Greene went out and nipped Hines in the final, a race that had the first six finishers timed in 10.0.

Burbick's, Littens Win In Pony League Play

Burbick's continued to win in Pony League play last night, dumping Woodbine's 8-4 at Beaver Local, and Littens kept pace with a 19-10 win over Sevy's at Dixonville.

Burbick's won with a four run rally in the seventh inning. Woodbine's committed eight errors and Burbick's got only two hits. Jim Tipton got the win in relief of Ben Gregory, while Ross Fiorello took the loss, in relief of George Hanlon and Rick Lockhart.

Littens beat Sevy's in a free-scoring contest, collecting 16 hits to 13 for the losers. Randy Talbott led the way with 3 for 3 and Gary Cunningham, Dean Horger, Dutch Wright, Joey Henderson and Rudy Frank had two hits each.

Parsons had three hits for Sevy's and Coburn, George Hall and Dave Kyle two each. Henderson was the winner and Bob Jones the loser.

Out-Of-State Colleges Get Half Of Ohio Stars

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Only half of the 20 high school basketball hotshots who will play in the North - South All - Star Game here Saturday night are headed for Ohio colleges.

The 6-foot-5 Middie phenom has signed a letter of intent with the Missouri Valley Conference to attend UC but still is free to go elsewhere.

Fraley's teammates on the South squad already have made their choices. Tipp City's Danny Furlong is headed for Tennessee Tech while Randy Smith, one of the stars on the Columbus East team that captured the Class AA championship, is going to William & Mary. He will be the first Negro ever to play on a W & M basketball team.

Others on the South roster, their high school, and the colleges they plan to attend:

Doug Hill, Southeastern Ross—Davidson.

Harold Howe, Jackson — Urbana.

Kent Johnson, Cincinnati Green Hills—Louisiana State.

Foreigners Lead Ladies PGA Golf

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Germany's Gerda Walen and Canada's Sandra Post held a one-stroke lead entering the second round of the $20,000 Ladies PGA Championship today as most of America's foremost golf pros attempted to bounce back in mailman fashion.

Despite winds gusting to more than 40 miles an hour, Mrs. Whalen, 30, a widowed mother of a young daughter, and pretty Sandra, a resident of Oakville, Ont., fired one-under-par 72s Thursday in the start of the 72-hole tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

The start of the tournament was plagued by medical and legal overtures. Carol Mann, suffering from muscle spasms in the neck and upper back, had to withdraw after 11 holes, while Peggy Wilson and Sandra McClinton required hospital treatment for minor ailments.

Miss Mann, the LPGA's biggest money winner this year, collapsed shortly after picking up and was carried off in a stretcher. She regained consciousness shortly after arrival at a hospital in nearby Worcester and was expected to be discharged today.

In the legal end, Miss Mann, defending champion Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Haynie, 1967 officers of the LPGA, were served summonses on the 10th tee.

The trio, along with the LPGA as a grout and tour director Leonard Wirtz, are involved in a $1¼ million suit filed for Beverly Klass, a 10-year-old girl denied permission to play in the 1967 LPGA Championship here.

Despite the service, Miss Haynie equalled par with a 38-35—73, while Miss Whitworth was just one over with 39-35—74. Pro tour rookie Jane Woodworth and veteran Sandra Spuzich aleo had 74s.

Four-time LPGA champion Mickey Wright, winner of four of six tournaments on tour this year, soared to a 78.

Jean DeKat Reported Well

Yachtsman Recovered By Norwegian Freighter

LONDON (AP) — French yachtsman Jean De Kat was reported fit and well aboard a Norwegian freighter today after surviving three days in the mid-Atlantic in a tiny rubber life raft.

De Kat, 27, took to the raft Tuesday after his three-hulled yacht Yaksha broke up in a storm which scattered competitors in the single-handed trans-Atlantic race.

Fourteen others of the original 35 entrants have not been heard or sighted since the storm but race organizers are not yet worried. Eight carried no radio transmitters and others may be out of radio range or deliberately keeping their positions secret.

The race, sponsored by the London Observer newspaper, started from Plymouth, England, June 1 with Newport, R.I., as the destination. Traditional single-hulled yachts so far seem to be making better progress than the experimental designs —twin-hulled catamarans and three-hulled trimarans.

De Kat, a bearded artist with long deep sea experience, built the 50-foot Yaksha himself. It raised a good many eyebrows when it arrived at Plymouth for the start.

Yachting men doubted that Yaksha could stand an Atlantic battering.

On Tuesday a Trans World Airliner captain heard De Kat calling for help. He reported his mast was broken and rudder gone, and that one of the outrigger hulls had been torn away.

A Royal Air Force plane of the Atlantic patrol spotted his life raft as dusk neared Thursday night and guided the 10,000-ton Norwegian freighter Jagona to the rescue.

Leaders of the Atlantic race are expected to reach Newport next week.

Two English yachts, both of conventional design, are believed to be up front—the Sir Thomas Lipton, sailed by Geoffrey Williams, and Myth of Malham, sailed by Noel Bevan.

Elze died Thursday, eight days after he collapsed unconscious in the 15th round of his fight for Duran's European middleweight title. Duran was awarded a technical knockout.

A spokesman for Cologne's University Clinic, where Elze was rushed after collapsing, said the cause of the 28-year-old boxer's death was a collapse of the blood circulation.

Waterford Double 9-5 Pays $834

Solaris Lad set up the big payoff when he won the first race under apprentice Tommy Reynolds and paid $19.80.

The winner, who was four lengths in front turning into the stretch, lost command to the favored Brother Royal some 30 yards from the wire, and it appeared as if Brother Royal would win by himself.

But, as Brother Royal moved up on the outside of Solaris Lad, the horse suddenly headed for the rail and began bothering Solaris Lad.

Jockey Joe Calvello, who was up on the public choice, had no alternative but to pull Brother Royal off his rival. When he did, Brother Royal turned stubborn and pulled himself up to a walk.

All the action took place within a few yards of the finish line, and it was Solaris Lad who kept on running to win it. Brother Royal still managed to hold second, while Timran was a close third.

Calvello was soundly booed by the fans, none of whom realized what really happened in those final seconds of the race.

In the second, Jockey Lanny Kress was spilled heavily from Base Hit in the run down the backstretch when Base Hit clipped the heels of the favored One Eyed Cat.

Kress, who had been involved in a spill June 11 when he fell with Namua, was making his first appearance since then.

Tonight, the 24-year-old rider from Carson, Iowa was not nearly so lucky, as the first diagnosis was that he had suffered a broken collar bone.

Arizona St. Leads NCAA Golf Tourney

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — "The only good lead is the lead after 72 holes," said Oklahoma State's Grier Jones, as if giving himself an incentive in the NCAA Golf Championships that he is dominating.

He referred to his two-stroke lead after 36 holes entering today's third round on the 71st NCAA tournament and the one-stroke margin Arizona State held over his own Cowboys in the team race.

Arizona State golfer Mike Morley finished with a 69 Thursday, his opening nine-hole score of 30 breaking a New Mexico State University course record.

Morley's teammate, Paul Purtzer, shot his second straight 68 and stood three strokes behind the front-running Jones, and one stroke behind second-place Allen Miller of Georgia.

Runaway Engine Careens 98 Miles Through Kansas

KINSLEY, Kan. (AP) — A maverick locomotive started by a mysterious malfunction took off without its engineer and careened 98 miles through the Kansas countryside Thursday, leading a Keystone Kops chase by deputies, police and spectators.

The two-unit diesel Santa Fe locomotive, which averaged at better than mile-a-minute clip during its 84-minute ride, was purposely derailed near Kinsley to end its unscheduled excursion.

During its run highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and police raced against time as they tried to block crossings ahead of the wild runaway that sped through nine towns at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

No one was hurt but there were several narrow escapes. Along the route officers had to contend with crowds of sightseers who flocked to the tracks for a glimpse of the speeding maverick.

The engine nearly hit a pedestrian and several automobiles at street crossings.

J. R. Fitzgerald, division superintendent, promised a thorough investigation.

It all began about 4 p.m. when the locomotive, freshly serviced and with its engine idling, quietly rolled off a roundhouse spur at Hutchinson onto the branch line that sweeps along the Arkansas River.

Apparently something went wrong with the "dead man's throttle"—designed to prevent the unit from moving unless a man's hand is applying pressure on the lever. Suddenly the train started moving.

Picking up speed on its way out of Hutchinson, the engine nearly hit one pedestrian and several automobiles at street crossings.

On the western edge of town, Harold Crain, a track supervisor from division headquarters at Newton, was operating a motorized handcar as he inspected the track.

Suddenly he looked up to see the locomotive charging at him.

"I lifted one end of my car off the tracks, but I could see there wasn't time to finish it, so I just stepped back and waved it goodby," Crain said.

He said smoke was boiling off the brakes "then the brakes burned out and the engine really took off." Sparks from the scorching brakes ignited grass fires for several miles outside Hutchinson.

Station agents were alerted over the railroad's voice network and Stanley Stout, the Sterling agent, started logging the times.

Santa Fe workers sent a chase engine in pursuit out of Larned, but the wild one had a five-minute head start on the 26-mile run to the connection with the main line at Kinsley. They knew there wasn't time.

So the Newton dispatcher sent the order:

Don Cargill, Kinsley agent, relayed the order to George Stone, section foreman, who threw the switch three-fourths of a mile from town.

"The switch headed it into the siding," Cargill said. "It was going so fast it couldn't make the curve. It rolled over on its side and tore up some track and knocked down some telephone poles."

Boys' State Rejects Gun Control Bill

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Delegates to Buckeye Boy's State head for home today after the school in self - government's model legislature failed to approve stringent gun control legislation sought by Gov. Gregory Huth.

Graduation ceremonies were scheduled for this morning for the 1,360 high school juniors from around Ohio who have been here the past week participating in the American Legion sponsored program.

The Boy's State legislature adjourned Thursday after the House rejected 72-27 a Senate-aproved gun control bill that had been sought by Huth.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV's Damper On Comedy

TV's Damper on Comedy I

Every now and then a press agent comes along with the nerve to hail his client as "another W. C. Field," or "another Fanny Brice."

Hal Humphrey

Fields and Miss Brice were originals, and they've never been replaced. Nor have Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton or Laurel & Hardy. I think the reason for this is TV. It not only doesn't create originals, but tends to detroy those who might be.

I thought of this while watching Imogene Coaca in a TV commercial plugging the rejuvenating powers of a tonic. Yes, the same inimitable Imogene who 15 years ago was creating those marvelous comedy characters with Sid Caesar on "Your Show of Shows."

I DON'T KNOW if she has been reduced to this by financial circumstances, but whatever the reason, I blame it on TV. The medium will use her as a silly character in a silly commercial, but not as the comic genius she is.

If W. C. Fields had lived during the days of TV, I shudder to think of what it might have done to him He probably would have wound up on a panel show like the late, great Fred Allen, or plugging a potato chip like the late Bert Lahr or Buddy Hackett, who is doing one now.

Hacket is a very funny man whom TV locked into a tired situation comedy some years ago, and when that didn't work, the medium found nothing for him except spots on panel shows and talk shows like Carson's or Bishop's.

RED SKELTON, Jackie Gleason and Lucille Ball are the only comics who've managed to survive TV through the years, and I've decided it's because they are great pantomimists.

What they say doesn't matter so much as what they do with their faces and bodies as they say it. Because on TV, you aren't supposed to say anything really fresh or funny. It worries the bosses who are afraid of topical humor or satirical humor. It causes controversy and offends some people.

That's why TV never really found a place for Fred Allen. He had a viewpoint —a very pointed one — on the world and its foibles. Groucho Marx managed for several years to get his viewpoint across under the camouflage of a game show, yet he was upbraided by the network every once in while for being "too rough" on a guest.

IRREVERENCE is a large part of comedy, but TV wants no part of it. In a mild way the Smothers Brothers have tried it, and Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," and they are under constant surveillance by their networks to make sure they don't go "too far."

George Gobel was a big hit on TV as long as he could be impudent about some of our sacred institutions, but as the rating got higher and the money for George bigger, he, too, was ground down by a medium whose motto is "Be Careful." George does commercials now, too.

Don Rickles, whose comedy is based on the personal insult, got such rave notices from his guest shots on TV the past season, he's been signed to do his own series. I haven't seen it yet, but I know that the minute he tries to expand his type of humor as he does in night clubs to include racial jokes, the blue pencil will come down on his scripts and he'll be confined to a smaller and smaller circle until the audience will find nothing new to laugh at.

SO DON'T tell us, you publicity spreaders, that you have another W. C. Fields or Chaplin or whomever, because even if you had and you put him on TV he'd soon be relegated to selling potato chips or doing a spot now and then on a late talk show, and that isn't enough experience to allow him to grow with his art.

He'll have to stay underground, in the few night clubs around the country, if he really wants to practice sharp comedy about things going on in the world today.

Shelley Berman told me recently that he sees TV opening up, but I don't believe it, and comics like Godfrey Cambridge and Mort Sahl don't either. TV is too rich and too scared to come up with a modern-day W. C. Fields.

Swift Gulf Stream Current Foils Lone Sailor's Voyage

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The lonely ocean voyage of Hugo Vihlen, so close to triumphant conclusion, apparently fell prey to the swift current in the Gulf Stream Thursday night and as his six-foot sailboat went bobbing north of his destination.

Vihlen planned to end his 4,700-mile solo trip across the Atlantic today in Biscayne Bay near Miami. But the Gulf Stream carried him miles north, past Fort Lauderdale.

As his family and an armada of well-wishers waited, Vihlen and his six-foot boat were reported seven miles off the Florida coast and five miles north of Fort Lauderdale—about 30 miles north of his target. Nobody was quite certain where to set up the welcome party.

"We can only make guesses as to where and when he'll land," a Coast Guard officer said. "If he's having trouble getting out of the Gulf Stream, he could go as far north as Palm Beach before making land." Palm Beach is 75 miles north of Miami.

The officer said he may have thrown out sea anchors and sat out the night rather than attempt a landing on an unfamiliar point on the coast.

The last sighting came as dark fell Thursday when a civilian airplane radioed that the tiny boat was sailing smoothly and that her bearded captain made no signal for assistance.

The Coast Guard said the commercial airline pilot's sudden appearance off the south Florida coast, after being reported Wednesday as being 200 miles away, was made possible by the Gulf Stream.

The April Fool is 5 feet, 11 inches in length and 5 feet in beam.

It is equipped with two sails rigged so that Vihlen can set the sails and rudder, allowing the boat to maintain course by itself.

The sails are fixed to a rotating mast so Vihlen can let the sheets in or out simply by turning it.

Local Gives To 4th Fund After Debate

United Steelworkers Local 1212 of Midland waived a standing "no donation" ruling Thursday and made a $1,000 contribution to the July Fourth celebration following a stormy session.

Al Lona, president, reported the executive board authorized the donation but part of the membership argued it already had given nearly $3,900 through contributions from pay at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Corp. They also said as members of the local they had not received any credit.

The group charged the gift was credited to the company rather than the local union.

After rescinding the ruling, adopted in August 1967, and a vote to make the donation, the rule was reinstituted by the membership. In former years the local had donated $1,500.

In other business, the call to the 15th annual USW constitutional convention at Chicago Aug. 19 was read. Lona was nominated and elected by acclamations as one of the delegates. Nine other delegates will be elected at an election to be set by the executive board.

A letter was received from Ohioville Borough officials thanking the local for its part in the strike - free contract agreed to with Crucible.

Montreal is set to welcome 20 to 30 million visitors this spring and summer to "Man and His World," the remarkable fair formerly known as "Expo." Nearly all pavilions are the same as Expo's, but the vast geodesic dome of the United States exhibit has been transformed into a multistory garden with big trees, tropical plants, floral mosaics and birds in their natural environment.

Nickel sulphate is used to eradicate a rust fungus disease that attacks crops of grass grown for seed. Before the fungicide, the rust fungus disease had damaged as much as 50 per cent of the crop.

Congress Ignoring Track Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate track critics have backed down on their threat to force the nation's colleges to bow to Amateur Athletic Union control of track meets.

Instead, the Senate Commerce Committee suggested Thursday that a new super group be created to govern amateur track in the United States.

But it passed the baton to another committee so far unconcerned with the long feud between the colleges and the AAU, making it almost certain that Congress will not take any action in the few busy working weeks it has left this year.

The colleges have declared a truce in the track war until after the Olympic Games in Mexico City Oct. 12-27. But the U.S. Track and Field Federation already has signalled that it will resume running its own mets after Nov. 1 in defiance of the AAU.

The USTFF and its powerful parent, the National Collegiate Athletic Union, turned down a Senate-nurtured compromise settlement earlier this year that would have left the AAU with supremacy in setting the standards for track meets.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, threatened immediately to write the suggested settlement into law and force the colleges to accept it.

Although Magnuson had aides prepare a bill to do just that, the measure has never been introduced, and Senators on the committee lined up at a closed session Thursday in favor of the super group instead.

Magnuson's committee went on record urging the Senate Judiciary Committee to approve a pending resolution by Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., to create an 11-member governing board including representatives of the AAU, the colleges and other track factions.

The USTFF would be happy with this, and said so two months ago when it turned down the original compromise. The super group would recognize the colleges' voice in track matters and break the stranglehold of the AAU as sole authority over amateur track.

A complex nickel chemical in motor oil increases the life of certain automobile engine parts by decomposing and producing nickel oxide which is plated out at points of load, thus reducing the rate of wear.

Student Program Outlined During Lisbon Meeting

LISBON — The American Field Service, which provides scholarships for boys and girls from foreign countries to spend a year in U.S. high schools, had its origin during World War I.

Wallace King, president of the Salem chapter of AFS, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon that the agency's first project was providing ambulances and recruiting drivers.

He said the AFS did some work between World Wars I and II in the field of international understanding through college scholarships for foreign students in France, but pointed out the high school scholarships activity was not launched until 1947. Since then some 40,000 students have studied in the U.S. and lived with host families in approximately 3,000 local chapters.

The Hubbard Kiwanis Club brought AFS to northeastern Ohio, establishing the initial chapter 10 or 12 years ago, King said. This area now has 30 chapters.

World peace through understanding is the organization's objective, King said.

King showed pictures of the nine students who have attended Salem High Scholl since the city chapter was formed in 1960.

Jacob ten Cate of Santpoort, The Netherlands, the 1967-68 AFS scholar at Salem, accompanied King to the luncheon meeting at the Masonic Temple. He told Kiwanians he is thankful for the opportunity to learn about this country and tell citizens here about his homeland.

The Rev. Fred Shiltz was program chairman. A. Monty Muntean, president, presented both speakers certificates of appreciation.

A stainless steel railway car powered by two aircraft - type gas turbine engines is being tested by New York's Long Island Rail Road. Initial tests show no "jet scream" or dust and no noticeable vibration or odor. Nickel alloys help to make the turbine heat- and corrsion-resistant.

Jetliners land at almost 200 miles per hour. To help them come to a stop, nickel alloys are used in critical areas of "thrust reversers" attached to each engine, which catch the hot gases normally propelling the plane, and divert them forward to slow it down.

Plane Lands In Venezuela After Hijack

CARACAS (AP) — A Venezuelan airliner with 79 persons aboard landed in Caracas today 22 hours late. It had been hijacked by a grenade-wielding Dominican and forced to fly to Cuba.

The pilot, Capt. Harry Gibson, said the 74 other passengers and five crew members were well treated during their unexpected stay Thursday in Santiago, eastern Cuba's chief city. The hijacker, identified only as a young Dominican, presumably was given asylum in Cuba.

Four U.S. citizens were among the passengers: Army Col. Henry Joslin, chief of the U.S. Military Assistance Group in the Dominican Republic; his wife, Wanda; William W. Taylor of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., and Russell Edwards, who was not otherwise identified.

Gibson said the hijacker entered the cockpit 29 minutes after Viasa Airlines flight 797 took off from Santo Domingo for Curacao and Caracas.

"He had a grenade in his hand," said the 51-year-old pilot. "He told us to fly to Havana, but I explained we did not have enough fuel for this and had to land in Santiago."

He said the hijacker did not object.

Addition of small amounts of nickel to the cast iron used in brake drums for heavy construction equipment has made it possible for the drums to operate to red heat without failure.

RESEMBLANCE of Clark Sutherland, left, Akron, Ohio, businessman, to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, right, has been noted by many including the senator's son Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr. said he "had to look twice" after meeting Sutherland in Washington, D.C., recently.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 21, the 173rd day of 1968. There are 193 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1788, the U.S. Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date—

In 1942, in World War II, 30,000 British soldiers were taken prisoners as their stronghold in Libya, Tobruk, fell to the Germans.

In 1948, the Columbia Broadcasting System demonstrated its long-playing record, which revolutionized the entire recording industry.

Ten years ago — A United Nations committee denounced the execution of former Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and other leaders of the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

Junior Editors Quiz on STAINED GLASS

QUESTION: How were the stained glass windows in cathedrals made?

ANSWER: Potatoes originally came from South America. The first we hear about them is a mention in a Spanish book that they were growing in Peru and Colombia by 1538. By 1550, Spaniards had introduced potatoes into Europe, where they were widely grown, especially in England and Ireland. They were then brought to the Virginia colonies in America, probably from England, in 1621. Our quaint illustrations at the top are from an old book showing potatoes growing in the Jamestown colony in Virginia in 1629. While on the subject of potatoes, we'd like to suggest some fun ways of cooking them outdoors this summer. Take along some aluminum foil, wrap the foods to be cooked in a double layer and put the package under hot coals. The boy at the left has cut some strips of potato, added hamburger and strips of carrot, and cooked them for 15 minutes. His foil serves as a plate. The boy at the right has dug a hole in the earth, kept a fire over it for half an hour, then scraped the fire aside and put in potatoes. He covered them with a thin layer of earth, then with more fire and cooked them for about an hour. Served with salt they're great.

Lisbon Area News

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — The home of Mrs. Gilbert Marshall was the setting Wednesday afternoon for the annual tea of the Lisbon Garden Club. Flower arrangements were featured throughout the house.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Leo Hochmann, president, with plans advanced for the Johnny Apleseed booth at the fall festival. A report was made on the shrubbery and plantings the club provided at the Sadie P. Van Fossan swimming pool and on the Square.

The new officers for the 1968-69 season were announced as: Miss Lucille Bennett, president; Mrs. Donald Tanner, vice president; Mrs. Russell Shaw, treasurer; Mrs. Perlee Bye, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Wright, corresponding secretary

Mrs. Frank Henry reviewed the book "There Goes What's her Name," the life story of Virginia Graham.

Mrs. Byron Albright and Mrs. Bye presided at the tea table which was laid in a pale green cloth with a white embossed nylon overlay. Two fans with nosegays at the bases from which flowed ribbon streamers in shades of pink and with silver accessories completed the setting. An arrangement of pink carnations, roses in pink and white mums enhanced the tea cart.

A picnic was planned for the July 16 meeting. Members are to take table service and a coverdish. It will be held at the country home of Mrs. John Hochmann of Franklin Square Rd.

The next combined meeting will be in three months.

Honored With Shower

Miss Lynne Balmos was honored at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday night by Miss Mary Jo Ieropoli and Miss Vicki Marshalek at the Ieropoli home on Thomas Rd.

Pink and lavendar was the color scheme. Streamers came from the chandelier to the oval table laid in white. A small parasol centered the table and a flower arrangement in a sprinkling can on the mantel carried out the shower theme.

Hutchings Succeeds Brown As Nonviolent Group Leader

NEWARK (AP) — Philip Hutchings, a soft spoken, young black organizer in Newark has been chosen to succeed Rap Brown as leader of the Student Nonvoilent Coordinating Committee.

An informant in the Negro community here said of the change, "SNCC seems to want to get away from the cult of personality that Brown and Stokely Carmichael developed and go back to the unglamorous but necessary job of organizing grass-roots people around specific programs."

Hutchings, 26, is reliably reported to have been elected at a meeting last weekend in Atlanta, the group's headquarters.

SNCC has refused to confirm the story for "the white press," but those who have worked closely here with Hutchings for the past three years have confirmed it. Hutching himself has been unavailable for comment.

The post itself has been changed to signal the new direction of the financially hard-pressed lack Power organization.

Hutchings will be "program coordinator," not "chairman," a post which has been abolished.

Brown, who served as chairman since May 1967, reportedly did not seek re-election. He was recently sentenced to five years in prison on a federal firearms charge. The sentence is under appeal.

That Hutchings' name is unfamiliar is not surprising.

He has worked quietly in Newark on the sort of grassroots organizing that was SNCC's primary activity before Carmichael ootk over two years ago.

Hutchings came to Newark three years ago following a brief stint as a NSCC field worker in Georgia and Tennessee. He had previously dropped out of Howard University where he was a classmate of Carmichael.

His initial work in Newark was with SNCC's white counterpart on the New Left, Students for a Democratic Society and its founder, Tom Hayden. Then he became the head SNCC field worker in Newark.

Hutchings appears to depart from Brown and Carmichael on the question of working with whites. Since Brown and Carmichael took over, no whites have held staff organizing positions with SNCC.

Official Says He Has 'Idea' About Skulls

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—The great skull mystery of Pinch Run Township remained just that today altnough Prosecutor John J. Malik says he has an idea about how the bizarre incident originated.

"I have a theory, but I don't want to speculate on it," Malik reported.

Malik, who declined further comment about how seven human skulls found their way into an abandoned Belmont County trash dump, said he doesn't believe the mystery "necessarily involves violence."

The skulls, some with skin, hair and teeth, were found Wednesday on the farm of Jim Cummins in the southeastern Ohio hill country near Bellaire.

They were found in what used to be Bellaire's city dump and the site is still used by some who dispose of trash illegally.

Although Malik declined to comment further on the discovery, he expressed confidence that the mystery will be solved.

"I think we will find out," Malik reported.

"We looked all over the place and couldn't find any more," Malik reported.

"We don't want to find any more," he added.

Authorities had planned to send the skulls to Columbus Thursday where they could be examined by Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of the Ohio Historical Society.

There was a delay, however, and Malik said sheriff's deputies planned to take the skulls to Dr. Baby today.

The first written, constitution in America was "The Fundamental Orders of Connecticut," formulated in 1639.

Ohio Man Kills Wife, Another Woman, Himself

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — "Come on in Tom, I won't shoot you," said 65-year-old Garnett Williams, who was approached by two policemen in the driveway of his home here Thursday night.

Williams, according to patrolmen Tom and Randall Newsom, who are brothers, then walked into the one-story frame house.

The policemen heard a shot, ran into the house and found Williams, a retired truck driver and concrete worker, his wife, Sue, and another woman lying on the floor, all dead from gunshot wounds.

A .38 caliber revolver lay near Williams' body.

Police Chief James McKee said Williams, who had been in ill health, apparently shot his 58-year-old wife and Mrs. Eva Stafford, 58, Springfield, before turning the gun on himself.

Man Facing Fraud Count Kills Himself

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bachelor banker facing a warrant charging him with embezzlement of more than $100,000 apparently shot and killed himself along a busy highway near suburban Worthington.

The body of Royce Huegely, 38, manager of the Tremont-Fishinger branch here of the Ohio National Bank, was found by police and the FBI along Interstate 270 north of Worthington Thursday night.

Huegely suffered a bullet wound in the chest and another under his chin, Evans reported.

Huegely, an 18-year employe of Ohio National, had left a note in the branch's night depository box admitting the embezzlement, police reported. The note, addressed to bank officials, was found early Wednesday morning.

Huegely had taken Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday off.

A station wagon spotted by a highway patrolman near Worthington early Wednesday turned out to be Huegely's, police said.

After tracking down its ownership through the license registration, police and the FBI went to the scene and found the body in weeds about eight feet off the highway.

A warrant had been issued by the FBI on Wednesday charging Huegely with embezzlement of more than $100,000 from the bank over a period of seven years, police reported.

The flag is flown throughout the night over the Senate building if that group recesses but does not adjourn at the end of the day's business.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Water Saves Stove Well

DEAR FOLKS: This is for those who have electric kitchen stoves with a "deep well" on the back.

Heloise

To keep from burning up the pot that sits down in the well, keep it partly filled with water at all times.

Sometimes when we are in a hurry, we accidentaly turn on the back burner instead of the front one.

Take it from me, the bottom of that pot sitting in that deep well gets hot mighty fast. If you don't smell it or notice that the front burner is not getting hot like you wanted, you will soon have a pot with the bottom melted out.

This is also likely to happen if you have house guests who go in to heat some water for tea or coffee and are not familiar with an electric stove.

Keeping water in that deep well pot doesn't hurt anything and you can change it every now and then.

I also keep three marbles in mine! They make a noise when the water starts to boil.

HELOISE.

P.S. And if your pot is aluminum and has turned dark, it can be cleaned beautifully with no effort by boiling two tablespoons of cream of tartar in the pot of water for 45 minutes or so. Looks almost new again.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: After I finish cleaning a room and it's so nice and fresh, I feel like I have really done something. But why doesn't it sparkle like on TV?

I wish they would send me their helpers . . . ALSO the mops, feather dusters, sponges etc. They do it with such ease . . .

JEANE R.

DEAR HELOISE: My large, braided wool rug had become quite worn and frayed around the edges, otherwise it had the potential for a great deal more wear.

Then I hit on the idea of ripping all of the outer braid off. This made the rug a little smaller, but what a nice smooth edge it had!

MRS. FRED OSBORNE.

DEAR HELOISE: As a male admirer of your column, I couldn't help but put in my two-cents worth on using those opaque plastic meat trays.

If you doubt this, just lay a dozen or so on the floor and take a look. The kind I used have an embossed design that really makes our ceiling a conversation piece, besides making it pretty soundproof.

I used an adhesive that would allow some slip so that the trays could be put together tight. (They could be tacked or heavy-stapled.) I left them as is, but they can be dipped in a thin latex paint for any desired tint.

HUGH BERRY.

Now how about that!

As we are still receiving hints on uses for these trays, thought you'd all like to have more ideas on how other ingenious folk are putting theirs to use.

Many are making plaques by pasting a picture in the bottom of the tray and either using a buttonhole stitch with colored yarn around the edge, or a hole-punch with ribbon threaded through it for an interesting frame.

Foil covered, they make dandy hot plates. Great, too, for dredging meat, fish, eggplant and tomatoes. As picnic plates, coasters and under paint cans and brushes. Also, as corn-on-the-cob trays and rests for cleanser cans and steel wool pads that usually leave rust marks. And in sick rooms for medicine bottles and thermometers.

All ideas were excellent and it's especially great to know that these versatile little trays that we get for FREE are not being discarded.

Thanks to all you pals who took the time to write to HELOISE.
